Queen to Miss Debs' Party Because of Sinus Attack

LONDON (AP)—The Queen, suffering from an acute sinus attack, spent a comfortable night but has cancelled all appointments for the rest of this week, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said today.

Her temperature, which had risen to 100 when she suddenly cut short a tour in Scotland Tuesday to return to London, fell during the night, her doctors reported. They did not say, however, if it was normal.

Doctors described the Queen's ailment as acute sinusitis, accompanied by a fever. They said it was not serious.

Cancelling the Queen's activities means she will not attend the garden party Thursday, at which Commonwealth debutantes including 40 from Canada, were to be presented.

A palace spokesman said Queen Mother Elizabeth is to be hostess in the Queen's place.

Canada House was deluged with calls from worried debutantes concerning the party. Today's announcement was a second blow to the Debs, who earlier learned the Duke of Edinburgh will not appear either because he will be in Brussels at the world's fair.

The Canadian Debs will have a chance to see several members of the Royal Family at the party, including Princess Margaret who will leave a day later for a month-long tour of Canada. Also attending will be the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and Princess Athlone.

(Among the debutantes is Miss Nan Baxter of Victoria.)

IKE'S MESSAGE TO CANADA

"Don't Let Bickering Confuse Main Issue"

Economic Unity Urged By John D.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today called for a new free-world economic policy that would "extend a measure of prosperity everywhere."

He made the suggestion in the Commons as he introduced President Eisenhower to a joint sitting of Commons members and senators.

"I believe," said Mr. Diefenbaker, "that the nations of the free world now joined in defence must, on a global basis, launch a new and challenging policy in the economic field designed to extend a measure of prosperity everywhere."

The need is imperative. The forces of Communism will not wait for time is running out!"

NEED ECONOMIC UNITY

Referring specifically to Canadian-American relations, Mr. Diefenbaker said "we are united in our defences which have no aggressive purpose. We can be no less united in economic objectives."

Each country in forming its economic policies and practices, while looking primarily to the well-being of its own people, "must at the same time take into account the effects of what is done to the other, as well as the interests and aspirations of free nations everywhere."

At another point the Canadian leader said to Mr. Eisenhower:

"Mr. President, our two lands have a glory of their own—the glory of two peoples moving together, not complacently but with a humble pride, and joined in fraternal association extending through a century of tragedy and storm."

"We may thank God that our nations know nothing of ancestral animosities or fears and above all desire that the peaceful and co-operative relations between us will become the portion of all mankind."

Mt. Diefenbaker made an eloquent verbal salute to Mr. Eisenhower's wartime leadership of allied forces.

Under his leadership "the legions of freedom marched

Judge Halts Bribe Trial For Study

VANCOUVER (CP)—The presiding judge in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial came face to face today with some of the most difficult and complicated rulings he has had to make in applying the law in the case, now 38 days old.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, 60-year-old member of the B.C. Supreme Court bench since 1944, adjourned the trial until Monday to consider his rulings on various defence motions, including one for dismissal for lack of evidence.

He told prosecutor Victor Dryer, when the latter began argument about some of the counts, that he had previously considered that in the case of Sommers, there might be evidence to put seven bribery counts to the jury, but not sufficient evidence to put another five.

The prosecutor threw in a mild bombshell, asking amendment in the wording of the conspiracy charge, a move which brought strong objections from defence counsel.

Mr. Justice Wilson said he will decide on the matter Monday.

Tuesday all counsel urged him to take all the time he needed. The judge admitted he had quite a "choke" but said "it would be unfortunate if the public thought that all this delay had some sinister significance."

SIDELIGHTS ON IKE'S VISIT

President Eisenhower paid homage to the Canadian servicemen killed fighting alongside him in two world wars.

Old soldier Eisenhower's first official act of the day was to lay a wreath at the foot of the National War Memorial in Ottawa as thousands of citizens ringed Confederation Square, site of the Memorial.

Fisherman John Diefenbaker today told golfer Dwight Eisenhower warmly. They gave him a standing ovation at the beginning and at the end of his speech in addition to interrupting him 10 times with desk-pounding applause.

Eisenhower's introduction as a "good neighbor and friend" also brought applause.

Global Struggle Transcends All

OTTAWA (CP)—President Eisenhower said today the most decisive battle between the free world and communism may be waged in the economic field and that Canada and the United States must not allow cross-border bickering to interfere with the big job of winning the global struggle.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

NAPLES, Italy — Poet Ezra Pound returned to Italy today for the first time since the Second World War and hailed his old home with a Fascist salute. America, he said, "is an insane asylum."

The 72-year-old American expatriate sailed back to the country from which he was taken home as an accused traitor 12 years ago and immediately launched into a tirade against the U.S.

Wartime treason charges against him were recently dropped by the U.S. government because doctors said he would never be sane enough to stand trial.

MONTREAL — Alain Favau, keeper of 35 cats, said Tuesday he will fight a court order to clean up his cat kennel or pay $40 a day starting Friday.

Favau, 64, was given the order and fined $200 last week after neighbors signed a petition that the cats were being kept in an unsanitary way in a shed and enclosure surrounded by a 10-foot wire fence. "I just like cats," he answers when asked why he keeps them.

LONDON — All but one of Lord Redesdale's daughters will share in his $361,000 estate under a will published today. Cut off without a cent was Jessica, who married a left-winger and named her child for Lenin.

Lord Redesdale, who hated Communists and once was a friend of Hitler, died last March at the age of 80.

He was pleased with seven of his eight daughters. One, Ute, also was Hitler's friend. Another, Diana, married British Fascist, Sir Oswald Mosley.

The daughters became famous as the Mitford girls, bearing the name by which Lord Redesdale was known before he inherited his title.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. — A jury split Tuesday on whether or not a minister, an evangelist and a church member were disturbing the peace by groaning, shouting and hand clapping at evening services.

Charges of disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct were brought against the three by persons living near an evangelistic tabernacle.

SEATTLE — For Mrs. T. V. Hubbard of Seattle, a reunion with her mother "yesterday was short and tragic."

Mrs. Virginia M. Mitchell, 76, of San Diego, had not seen Mrs. Hubbard for "ve years.

Stepping from a bus to spend the summer here, Mrs. Mitchell embraced and kissed her daughter. Then fatigue, emotion and age took their toll.

Mrs. Mitchell collapsed in her daughter's arms and died moments later.

Union Wins Court Injunction Battle

VANCOUVER (CP) — An injunction restraining the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union, local 170, from picketing a pulp and paper mill in Port Alberni was dissolved by Mr. Justice H. J. Sullivan in Supreme Court.

The injunction had been granted by Mr. Justice F. K. Collins June 27 to Macmillan and Bloedel (Alberni) Ltd.

Miss Mary Southin, counsel for the union, successfully contended the injunction had been granted on insufficient evidence.

The company had alleged the pickets closed down construction work on the pulp and paper mill with the result 300 workers did not report for work.

Queen Invites Heuss to Palace

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Queen has signified her approval of renewed German-British friendship by inviting West Germany's President Theodor Heuss to stay at Buckingham Palace.

He will be the first German chief of state to visit Britain since Kaiser Wilhelm was there in November, 1907.

Korea Rain Kills 62

SEOUL (AP) — Torrential rains which finally ended today killed 62 persons in South Korea and did damage estimated at more than $8,000,000, police said. Ten other persons were missing. More than 6,600 were homeless.

U.K. SEAMEN RETURNING HOME TO FACE CHARGES

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP) — Law enforcement officials here breathed a sigh of relief today as their legal headache caused by the jailing of five Scottish seamen came to an end.

The men, accused of beating up their bosun's mate and dumping him from the British freighter Catalina Star into the Columbia River, were scheduled to leave tonight for Britain to face charges.

Norman Prickett, British vice-consul at Portland, said arrangements were being made to return the men but he refused to say how they would be taken to England or what specific charges would be filed against them.

when liberty was under seige and no man knew where salvation lay." Mr. Eisenhower's "wisdom, humanitarianism and prestige are once more humanitarians hope for freedom and peace."

On international affairs, Mr. Diefenbaker said the Communist world "is waging an intensive economic global offensive of aid and trade."

It was an offensive, not to secure profits in a bookkeeping sense nor to secure the ordinary gains of trade for Communist peoples, "but an offensive whose success will be measured by the degree to which the souls, hearts, freedoms and aspirations of the recipients will be subverted to the purpose of Communism."

MUST EXPAND TRADE

To meet this new and ever-enlarging phase of the Communist cold war, joint efforts were needed to expand world trade, to increase the financial base of liquid resources for such expansion and to help in raising the living standards of people in underdeveloped countries.

"I know I speak for all Canadians in saying that for these purposes Canada stands prepared to assume her full share and to make her full contribution."

problems, Mr. Eisenhower emphasized that the bigger problem is to overcome communism, particularly in its current economic offensive.

Our system of free enterprise is challenged throughout the world by a state-directed, state-controlled economic system. Indeed, this could well be the area in which the competition will be most, bitter and most decisive between the free world and Communist imperialism.

"We must never allow ourselves to become so preoccupied with the differences between our two nations that we lose sight of the transcendent importance of free world co-operation in the winning of the global struggle."

3 Scientists Set for Trip To Moscow

Three local scientists will be among 1,000 astronomers from all parts of the world who will attend a conference in Moscow, USSR, in August.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, astronomer Dr. Graham Odgers and technical officer, Edward Argyle, also from the observatory, will be members of a 10-man Canadian group.

The conference is the 10th general assembly of the International Astronomical Union.

Dr. Petrie will leave Aug. 7 or 8, to return a month later, by way of England where he will inspect a $262,000 telescope now being built for the local observatory.

Dr. Odgers is already en route to Europe. Mr. Argyle leaves July 20. The federal government is "sponsoring the trip of Dr. Petrie and Dr. Odgers. The International Astronomical Union is assisting Mr. Argyle with expenses.

Christian Science breaks the grip of matter

Many people have been healed of apparently hopeless troubles and diseases through prayer in Christian Science.

They have found a better way of life. They have gained, or regained, peace and confidence.

How anyone can learn to pray understandingly, effectively, is fully explained in the first chapter of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. Such prayer is the spiritual understanding of God and of man in His "image and likeness," as the Bible teaches.

Joint Defence Cabinet Discussed by Ike, PM

BY VICTOR MACKIE

Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA — A joint Canada-United States cabinet defence committee consisting of cabinet ministers from both countries, is expected to be set up as a result of the initial talks between Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and President Eisenhower, Tuesday.

The proposal is understood to have been put forward by Canada at the talks attended by six key members of both governments. They conferred for 95 minutes in the study of the Prime Minister's residence.

The question of trade with China and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's suggestion of a joint parliamentary-congressional committee to bring about a closer understanding between the two countries, were also raised during the talks.

But the defence committee proposal was the most important proposal put forward by Canada. This country has been increasingly disturbed over developments in the North American defence field and wants closer liaison with the Americans in this field.

TALKS EXPANDED

President and Prime Minister wasted little time in getting down to work. Originally they were scheduled to meet alone in an informal chat for the first day. But without explanation the number at the original talks was expanded.

During the First World War he served in France and Belgium with A battery of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and was awarded the Military Cross for gallantry in the field. From 1934 to 1937 he was professor of tactics at the Royal Military College in Kingston.

ternal affairs and their Ameri-can counterparts.

There is a joint cabinet committee between the two countries now in existence dealing with trade and economic matters. But it meets infrequently. One of Mr. Diefenbaker's objectives is to bring about more frequent meetings between Canadian cabinet ministers and their American counterparts.

Defence questions have been put forward by Canada at the talks attended by six key members of both governments. They conferred for 95 minutes in the study of the Prime Minister's residence.

The Canadian cabinet has been embarrassed more than once about appearing to be uninformed about American defence policy as it applies to this country.

The recent controversy over the establishment of NORAD

Should the joint defence cabinet committee be established, the Diefenbaker government would likely make use of it as soon as possible to clarify the role of NORAD. It would also be useful to Canada to press home its case for Canada being allowed to obtain nuclear warheads or other atomic weapons from the U.S. arsenal.

Little time was spent on domestic problems Tuesday at the initial talks. The question of the surplus wheat headache was mentioned, but not in detail, according to press secretaries James Hagerty for the U.S. president and James Nelson for Mr. Diefenbaker.

NATO and continental defence problems were under discussion including disarmament inspection zones and Arctic aerial inspection.

The conference could be broken down into two sections according to Mr. Hagerty who spoke for the President at a press briefing after the talks.

One section of the talks was a review of the world situation. It dealt with the problems of the Soviet economic threat and the relations of the free world with the Soviet world.

The other section of the talks dealt with defence, in particular the relation between Canadian and the U.S. Forces for North American defence.

Name-Calling Marks Debate on Development (From Times News Services)

OTTAWA—The continuing debate between Progressive Conservatives and Liberals on the still-smouldering election issue of national development policies has reached the point of name-calling in the House.

"Don't be so downhearted and pessimistic about Canada," Works Minister Green, in effect, admonished Opposition Leader Pearson Tuesday.

"It's sad to see such a cheerful person shedding crocodile tears all over the Commons," said Mr. Green.

From the opposition side,

Two Non-Confidence Motions Beaten

All this was before the sure-fire government majority knocked out two opposition motions of non-confidence by votes of 171 to 51 and 172 to 51.

The Liberal motion, supported by the CCF, called for "a balanced policy of national development" that would stimulate economic growth and promote social advancement in settled areas.

The CCF group added an amendment to extend long-term, low-interest loans to small businesses, which found Liberal support.

During the debate, Mr. Green jibed at the Liberal and CCF parties for supporting each other's motions of non-confidence.

"We may be witnessing the first exciting hours of a court-

Pleads With Opposition Leader

Mr. Green said he would plead with Opposition Leader Pearson "not to be so downhearted and pessimistic about Canada."

Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon) charged that the Liberals have ridiculed, reviled, scorned and belittled the government national development policy, but claimed as their own "many of the programs in the policy."

He said the former Liberal administration had shown lack of foresight in northern development generally.

Mr. Nielsen quoted former Liberal northern affairs minister Jean Lesage, now Quebec Liberal leader, as having said a federally directed national development plan was impossible.

Yet now the Liberal party had moved a motion directly contrary to the policy expressed by Mr. Lesage.

9 Hear Candidate For Saanich Office

Candidate for Saanich reeve, Archibald H. Abbott, made a campaign address Tuesday night to only nine listeners at Lake Hill Women's Institute hall.

He seeks the post with two other candidates in Saanich by-elections Saturday. Also open is a council vacancy.

Voters will have the opportunity to hear all candidates at a meeting to be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in Lake Hill Women's Institute hall.

At Mr. Abbott's public meeting he compared the municipality to a service department, a non-producing seller of services, which he believes should be produced at lowest cost.

He attacked sale of Saanich municipal yard, particularly for a suggested low tender of $50,000, even if $2,000,000 worth of development is promised.

Mr. Abbott recommends a price of $90,000 as bid in the highest tender because otherwise $40,000 will be gambled on future expansion of the area.

Another point in favor of the high-bidding firm is its plan to complete road and storm sewer, whereas the low bid wants council to undertake this, he said.

Lansdowne is an example of services put in without a council spent there for development," the speaker said.

Pair Trapped 600 Ft. Above Canyon

ANTONITO, Colo. (AP) — region Tuesday found the broken body of a man identified as William E. Garver, 38, auditor for the University of New Mexico.

Garver and John Sanders, 35, were returning from a fishing trip when they apparently fell from a perilous mountain trail five days ago. The man on the ledge 600 feet from the bottom of the canyon has identified himself as Sanders to members of the rescue team.

Don Bewley, 22, scrambled down a lowered rope to Sanders' side Tuesday. He gave the trapped man the first food and water he had had in four days.

Bewley volunteered to join the marooned man despite the danger of jagged rocks sawing into the rope which supported him.

An army helicopter flew into the area with a three-man mountain crew but the rescue attempt — last one of the day — was turned back by turbulent air in the canyon.

The shelf where Sanders has been trapped since Friday slopes downward at a 45-degree angle from the canyon wall. Below is a 600-foot free fall to the base of the canyon.

Judge and Jury

IN THE SOMMERS CASE THE presiding judge, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, has received many anonymous letters and telephone calls from persons who wish to influence his conduct one way or another. He has mentioned these pressures to the jury only as a warning to its members to take no account of anything but the evidence. For the jurors, too, may be under the same sort of pressures which cannot be prevented in such a case.

So far as the judge is concerned those who try to influence him outside the courtroom are wasting their time. Mr. Justice Wilson is recognized by the legal profession as one of the ablest, most impartial and courageous judges in Canada.

By men of his kind the reputation of our Canadian courts has been built. Because of his own reputation he was chosen by the Supreme Court of British Columbia to try what has become the longest criminal case in the history of the province and, in a legal sense, one of the most complex in the history of Canada.

It is clear from his conduct of the case that he regards it not only as the trial of certain persons but as a test of our judicial system under the most difficult circumstances. The difficulties, indeed, in a strictly legal sense are beyond the grasp of the layman.

Chiang's Press Gag

FORMOSA'S LEGISLATIVE Yuan, the parliament of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists, is the most recent agency to pass a press gag law.

Whether this is a sign of new weakness, or a revelation of weakness that was already there, it is difficult to say. At all events the action—conventionally the action of a government that cannot stand criticism—has raised its own furor, even in the ranks of the Kuomintang Party which controls 450 of the more than 500 national legislators now on Formosa.

The bill covering the issue was smuggled through committee and pushed through the Yuan, but not without encountering strong criticism. Among those in opposition to the measure was the distinguished former Chinese Ambassador to the United States, Dr. Hu Shih.

The government spokesman favoring the bill has made the usual protestations. It will not, he says, be used to stifle bona fide criticism of the government. But it will attend to "malicious attacks" against the government. Moreover, says the defensor, it will apply to newspapers which give "more than half of their space to licentious material."

As the Twig Is Bent

FROM BEIRUT COMES AN ASSOCIATED Press dispatch of infinite tragedy.

It reports the educational arrangements in the oil-rich British protectorate of Kuwait at the head of the Persian Gulf.

"Clever, well-educated Palestinians, Syrians and Egyptians are spreading an insidious poison there," the item states. "Many of them serve as teachers in this land that has suddenly emerged into a modern world."

"The newcomers preach hatred and revenge. From kindergarten on a child has one line of thought drilled into him. Never forget Palestine, never forgive the British, French or Americans. Remember that the Arab's mission one day will be to kill his enemies."

In the schools there are 1,600 teachers, only 150 of whom are Ku-

Easing Animal Suffering

MOST CANADIANS WILL APPROVE re-introduction by Justice Minister Davie Fulton of the bill to strengthen regulations for humane slaughtering of food animals.

For many years earnest and energetic interests have worked to remove certain cruel practices from abattoirs. When a bill to that effect was brought into Parliament last

As long as Canadians remain the nation of meat eaters they are, they must endorse any action that removes pain in the process of acquiring meat. No other course is acceptable to the national conscience.

The Living Language

IN A SPECIAL ARTICLE MARKING the 200th anniversary of Noah Webster's birth, The Christian Science Monitor says: "The life work of this famous lexicographer has had the greatest influence on any individual upon the English language of today."

Conceivably there are scholars who would dispute that point. But the writer of the article has escaped one pitfall. He might have discussed Mr. Webster's contribution to the American language. Had he done so the lexicographer would have faced serious competition.

When to the lexicon of "Harry the Horse," "Yussel the Muscle," et al., today's sports pages bring "Hymie the Mink," nobody can discount the continuing influence of Damon Runyon.

The Cedars of Lebanon

DOUKS IN SCHOOL

By B. A. TOBIN

What Are They Learning?

THE two police officers came quietly into the office. There was no great show of authority. They were casual, but business-like. The taller one asked, "Are you Joe Doakes?" "Yes, I am," replied Doakes. "What can I do for you?" "You'll have to come with us," said the policeman. "We have a warrant here for your arrest." "Must be some mistake," said Joe, with a laugh. "I've done nothing to concern the law." "It's for you, all right," said the officer. "You're wanted on suspicion of robbing a bank." "But that's ridiculous," cried Joe, jumping to his feet. "I've never done any such thing. I've lived here all my life. Why, I can get a hundred people to give character references. Why . . ."

But Joe went with them. A little later he found that it was really a routine case. He was suspected of going to rob bank next fall and of course was taken into custody right away.

The case of Mrs. Josephine Blokes was much the same. She was arrested one night as she prepared for bed and was lodged in the city jail. Although she had never before had dealings with the law and had lived an exemplary life—she was a past president of the Ladies' Guild and an active canvasser for the annual welfare drive—she nevertheless was tried and found guilty of someday maybe setting fire to a hotel.

Arson, naturally, is considered a pretty serious offence. She was sentenced to six months imprisonment.

Prospective Crime

In court on the same day were three children of school age. They were charged with truancy, and their father—who oddly enough was one of the officers who arrested Joe Doakes—was accused of wilfully keeping them out of school. The schools were closed for the summer, of course, but the public prosecutor felt that the children were not going to attend school when it opened.

The father argued that he could not send them to school during the holidays since the buildings were not open, and that the court could not merely presume that he was perhaps going to break the law next September. But the court ruled otherwise; the children were taken from him for safe-keeping and he was warned that further trouble would result in a stiffer legal judgment.

The legal precedents set back in 1958 were cited in each case in support of the prosecution. Obviously the law was completely within its rights, and the sentences well merited. Everybody agreed on that.

I don't suppose, really, that such little items as these will ever appear in the press of Canada. But the layman can't help wondering when he thinks of the case of the Doukhobor children being confined in the New Denver school today

We would be far better off, morally to let the children go, and then pay for the extra police roundup in September. We'll probably pay that much again for extra guards for railway lines, hotel toilets and other home targets.

I look at my own youngsters—as you no doubt have looked at yours—and think of what I might do in a similar situation to that of the Doukys.

Mr. Attorney General, as a member of the public, I can't feel comfortable about the child-detention business you and I are engaged in as partners. Can't you think of a Canadian solution?

Critics of the Critic

In the Mirror

May I, as a satisfied resident of Victoria for 39 years, voice my disgust with the distinctly impudent articles being contributed by that new recruit, David Cowlishaw.

I have wondered just what he must be like to listen to, but in Friday's article he aptly seems to describe himself when he describes some "boys, pink-cheeked gladiators, bursting with eager schemes to make Victoria like Montreal . . . the other day I heard one of these twerps talking about a tunnel to Formosa." I guess he was looking in the mirror when he got that.

The older folks whom he has written so disdainfully about are the ones who have had the grit to pioneer our beloved Canada and make it fit and comfortable for the rest of us to live in (twerps included).

E. JACKSON.

been, and after dinner I will personally give him a conducted tour of Victoria and try to explain something of its charm and tourist interest.

From one Englishman, now a Canadian citizen, to another Englishman, how about it, Dave!

S. LANE.

Olde England Inn.

Send Him Back

With reference to your column by Mr. Cowlishaw—how long will the Times reading public of Victoria have to be insulted by this ignorant so-called Englishman? What right has this person to criticize Victorians in such a rude and ignorant way? After all, we didn't ask him to settle in Victoria and if he doesn't like it here he is at liberty to return from whence he came.

I particularly take offence to his constant insulting of our gardens and gardeners. I think if he would get his hands into some of our Victoria's good, clean mother earth it would certainly do something for his twisted mind.

Victorians are in no hurry to change our beautiful town into another Montreal, and if we liked Montreal that much we would go there and live, and I think it would be a good place for this man to.

We, as a city, are proud of our old-timers and what they have contributed to our country. We take a modest pride in looking after them and provide benches on the Causeway and on sunny corners where they can sit and watch the world go by, so to speak, and I think it was particularly cruel of Mr. Cowlishaw to attack these senior citizens of Victoria and call them old fossils and practically insult them that they haven't enough sense to die.

I certainly hope that when this sarcastic human being (?) gets to the end of his life span (and if he doesn't stop being rude to Victorians it will be sooner than he thinks) that he has to spend his last years in Eastern Canada where it will be far too cold to sit out in the winter and blistering hot in the summer. Maybe Montreal, of which he seems to be so fond, will be glad to offer him a room in their old man's home.

If I, for one, have to be insulted by this ignorant being every night when I pick up my paper, for which I pay good money every month, then I am afraid I will be forced to subscribe to some other journal of news which has a little better taste in the hiring of their employees.

Victoria is not interested in hearing what Mr. Cowlishaw has to say as a newcomer to our city if the last few articles are any sample. Please send him back to good old England where he belongs.

(MRS.) D. A. PICKLES.

Right on the Ball

I would like to comment on Mr. Cowlishaw's articles which I think are very interesting. I thought all his observations were right on the ball.

As a newcomer, what amazes me the most is the amount of tourists they get with so little to offer.

Mr. Cowlishaw also mentioned the hotels, motels, meals. I have just two words to describe those places: they stink.

ELIZABETH M. MACMILLAN.

Daily Dunking

You have added little prestige to your paper by including on its staff a young, hungry and angry boy. No doubt this specimen of humanity has spent most of his life in a rooming-house where he developed a warped mind.

He has been in this town two months and considers himself fit to tear down all that is beautiful in Victoria. I think your paper could do better than add to your already poor staff such a creature. He really might develop into something if he were ducked in the ocean each morning.

"ONE-TIME READER"

Bad Taste

There may be something to what the "Newcomer" is writing. It just doesn't sound good.

I would say it is in bad taste. It is not what one says, but how it is said.

A. M. WALKER.

1205 5th Street, Sidney.

Take It in Stride

Methinks that unless we can take David Cowlishaw in our stride our education has been sadly neglected. Any measuring stick is governed by its length and reflects lightly or deeply accordingly.

Perfection stems not from what we are, what we say, think or do, but from our capacity to absorb the good from the bad. Our faults may even lie in the eyes of the beholder, our virtues lost to him who looks over the surface rather than under for his judgments.

Granted we are old, our gardens open to the critic's glance. Are they loved any less for that? The gentleness engendered in the sight and touch of a flower betokens God's grace.

The ghosts of exaggeration are no less in evidence here as elsewhere. 'Tis the fashion to impress the multitude with our virtues. Our foibles are for ourselves.

Human nature being what it is, let us take heart in our manifold assets and liabilities. David Cowlishaw notwithstanding, bear with him, friends. He's his neighbor!

ALAN GREIG.

(1) 1141 Fort Street.

The Very Best Thing

I think along with others, that the very best thing the Victoria Times can do is to discontinue the Cowlishaw articles.

Thinking Victorians do not mind constructive criticism, as there is always something to learn, but, Cowlishaw's diatribes are just destructive. He can't seem to find anything he likes here and I would suggest he go somewhere else where he won't get so annoyed and further increase his blood pressure.

Newspapers like controversy, and, no doubt the Cowlishaw series are engineered to start just that, but for a reputable newspaper it is hardly good manners.

If the Times can't see the deplored infantile trend in the articles they should do some checking.

Economic Integration

NEW YORK—Should Canada join a Customs Union with the United States?

This challenge, which goes right to the economic heart of Canadian nationhood, is contained in a foreign trade report put out by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund. Surprisingly, this report has been given little publicity in Canada.

The report urges calling an inter-American economic conference which would include Canada. One of the objectives would be to study establishment of either a Customs Union covering the whole of the western hemisphere or regional common markets with merger as a final goal. A Canada-U.S. common market would be one of these zones:

Other objectives would be:

Find workable procedures for moderating extreme price fluctuations in commodity trades;

Promotion of economic growth and consideration of an Inter-American Development Authority;

Establishment of an Inter-American Payments Union to provide full convertibility of currency;

Co-operation in fields such as education, low-cost housing, health and technical assistance.

On trading zones, the report suggests that Canada-U.S. might constitute one area, Central America another, the northern tier of the South American countries a third, and the southern countries a fourth zone. Maximum exchange between these zones would be encouraged and full integration would be the final aim.

Regional arrangements of the kind here considered do not imply regional autarchy," the report states, "their aim is the progressive elimination of trade barriers within groups, not the erection of new barriers . . . Regional arrangements should be considered a step in the direction of freeing world trade . . ."

The report refers to the western hemi-

Burke

"It is imperative for the United States to co-operate closely with its western hemisphere neighbors in solution of problems that necessarily are of common concern. A sober review and consideration . . . have been too long deferred," the panel states.

"Even in Canada, where the development record of the economy has been outstanding, there have been recent rumblings. These reflect, at least a sharp questioning of certain of our economic inter-relationships and deserve immediate and serious attention. Canadians will appreciate the consideration which the Rockefeller committee shows for Canada but many may not accept their solution—if you're menaced by a bear there may be solutions other than marrying the beast."

At the United Nations, however, senior economists are of the opinion that whether Canada wants it or not, economic union is developing at a rapid rate and will continue to do so unless Canadians are prepared to accept a substantial drop in their standard of living and in the rate of growth of the economy. However, they suggest that Canadians should make strenuous efforts to find out what the true facts are so that they can do everything possible to see that Canada is benefited, not harmed, by the development.

"Unless you know what's happening, you can't influence the course of events," commented one senior economist.

The statement by the Prime Minister of his objective of switching 15 per cent of trade to Britain was cited as an example of unrealistic economic thinking in Canada.

Canadians have legitimate fears that an economic merger would destroy Canada as a nation. At the United Nations, however, economists point out that Canadians have long been foremost advocates of a NATO trading group and that Canadians are among the first to tell Europeans that they should merge their national economies.

And, as one economist said,

"I don't know what you're worried about. The more American money pours into your country, the more nationalistic you become. It seems to me that your national spirit thrives on American money."

And, thrive or not, integration is taking place anyhow.

Robin Hood's Daughter

LONDON—Claire Bloom, back from making The Brothers Karamazov and The Buc- caner in Hollywood, says there's certainly not much offering in British movies. Only part she has been offered so far is the lead in Son of Robin Hood. Despite the fact that the twist is that the boy turns out to be a girl, she doesn't think she'll bother.

Here's something really out of the ordinary in the way of a holiday for folks in this country—or Canadian summer visitors if they'd like to make the trip while here.

Reyburn

You can now make a tour of Russia by jet plane. And it's not a British jet. It's the big Soviet TU-104 airliner.

There are to be three 15-day tours this summer, organized by Horizon Holidays, the first of them starting on July 26. The Russian jet aircraft picks up the passengers here, 70 of them per trip, and has them in Moscow in four and a half hours.

There are to be conducted sightseeing trips around the capital (the Kremlin, Moscow State University, a new housing area, the state department store GUM, etc.) and side-trips to Leningrad, Kiev and the Dnieper River.

To make sure the tourists get their money's worth, the Russians are granting a special exchange rate for roubles on any shopping they do. Cost of the tour: approximately $430.

CANADIAN'S FABULOUS DIAMOND MINE SOLD

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Percy Williamson, brother of the late Dr. John T. Williamson, is selling the shares of the fabulous Mwadui diamond mine equally to the Tanganyika government and De Beers Consolidated Mines Limited of South Africa, it was learned authoritatively today.

Dr. Williamson, the Montreal-born diamond king, discovered the mine in 1940. He died Jan. 7.

The mine was inherited by his brother and two sisters. In March, a statement issued by the company said the shareholders had "absolutely no intention of disposing of any part of their shares."

DR. CHISHOLM WARNS:

War to Decimate, Cripple Humans

An estimated 2 to 10 per cent of the human race would survive a third world war Dr. Brock Chisholm told Kiwanis members Tuesday noon at the Empress Hotel.

"Most of those would be cripples," he said, "and those would be unable to breed or would breed monsters."

"For the first time in history," he said, "man holds a vetoing power over the continued existence of the human race."

Former director-general of the World Health Organization, Dr. Chisholm is now president of the World Association for Mental Health.

Dr. Chisholm said that security must now be put on a real world basis in the hands of each citizen, not in the hands of individual governments.

NO GUARANTEE

"The time has come," he said, "when no government can ever again guarantee its people that they will stay alive. "We are not going to get appreciable disarmament until we set up an effective worldwide police force."

Dr. Chisholm did not criticize governments so much as individual citizens at home who, he said, "hold back their governments because they are not yet mature enough to be world citizens."

Throughout his remarks he referred to people of North America, including Canadians, as being particularly responsible and culpable in this regard.

"If they do not mature sufficiently in time," he said, "the chances of their survival in this world are not very good."

He related this to the problem of the depressed areas in the world where, he said, "over half the population of the world suffers from malnutrition."

B.C. Tomato Preferred, But Untubed

B.C. consumers will pay more for home-grown tomatoes in baskets or bulk, than they will for imported tomatoes.

But they won't buy them in tubes in preference to the imported garden product.

Minister of Agriculture Newton P. Steacy said today these were findings following an experiment carried out in one of Victoria's larger hot houses.

Mr. Steacy noted earlier, housewives have been asking for tomatoes put up in windowed cardboard boxes, called tubes. But the only ones in B.C. stores were packed in the U.S.A. and Mexico.

In response to repeated complaints that B.C. tomatoes were at a disadvantage, the agriculture department ordered the experiment.

"The average consumer has become so accustomed to regarding all tubed tomatoes as imported that the B.C. product is not recognized as such, when it, too, is placed in a tube," the minister stated.

The tests further indicate, "that tubing of tomatoes whether field or hothouse varieties, does not necessarily increase sales."

Mr. Steacy said similar investigations will be carried out with other products to explore methods of stimulating sales of B.C. products.

Argentine to Buy Carrier Warrior

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty announced Monday that a verbal agreement has been reached with the Argentine government for the sale of the 14,000-ton aircraft carrier Warrior. The 12-year-old carrier was on loan to the Royal Canadian Navy for two years after its commissioning. It was replaced in 1948 by the Magnificent.

Chaperon of Students Apologizes to Police

Public apology for accusing Saanich police of "treating us like criminals" and "crudeness" at an all-night graduation party was made by the official chaperon Tuesday.

Mr. Schneider, 1980 Roslyn, had levelled criticism at Saanich police June 28 for "behavior like in a grade B movie" in confiscating liquor brought to Mount View High School party.

GIRL, 16, DRUNK

A police road check which sparked Mr. Schneider's accusations resulted in 16 charges being laid against young people. Liquor bottles taken from youths' cars filled a police sedan "so there was just room for the driver," and one 16-year-old girl was said to be "so drunk she could hardly stand."

In making his apology before a meeting of Saanich police commission, the chaperon pleaded the president of the school student council promised him no liquor would be brought to the start of their careers?"

Mr. Schneider: "No."

Mr. McKenzie asked how Mr.

Lloyd McKenzie: "Do you think post-graduation parties were expressly approved by school authorities?" Mr. McKenzie asked,

"I had no idea."

"Were you aware of the concern to Greater Victoria law enforcement agencies because of the liquor?"

"Not at the time."

NECK STUCK OUT

Mr. Robin Stewart told the meeting that in his opinion Mr.

Mr. Schneider "attempted to become involved in the party, and the chaperon replied his sister-in-law was a graduating student and his wife an ex-student."

"Did you know post-graduation parties were expressly approved by school authorities?" Mr. McKenzie asked,

"I had no idea."

"Were you aware of the concern to Greater Victoria law enforcement agencies because of the liquor?"

"Not at the time."

PLAY MISUNDERSTOOD

The much-travelled "world doctor" said that underprivileged people in other parts of the world might well wonder about the western "leaders" when they saw them teaching their children how to "kill Indians."

He said that we clothe them in cowboy garb, equip them with "six-shooters," and make heroes out of men whose business was slaughtering Indians.

"Killing Indians," he said, "is not highly regarded as a pastime in other parts of the world."

The only thing to do," he said, "is to examine it carefully and then do something sensible about it."

Fans Even Cheered Case After Billy Became Hero

Third All-Star Triumph Best One for Yank Pilot

By LEO H. PETERSEN

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — "Let 'em boo," Casey Stengel said today.

He felt he had vindicated the entire American League.

Stengel took the boos Tuesday, but they were cheering him at the end after he guided the American League to a come-from-behind, 4-3 victory over the National League in the silver anniversary all-star game.

The triumph was Stengel's third in eight all-star tries and to him, at least, the greatest. More than that, however, it gave him the glowing satisfaction of winning over 48,829 Baltimore fans who roared him in the sixth inning for replacing one of their "home town" favorites.

It all came about when one of the seven Yankee players Stengel named to round out his squad turned out to be a dud. But grizzled old Casey kept going with his guys and, later in the same inning, came up with a fellow who won the ball game.

It was Gil McDougald, pinch-hitting for winning pitcher Early Wynn, whose single drove in the winning run.

Turley, Berra 'Didn't Do Too Good'

Stengel, who said, "I didn't pay too much attention to those boos," then called on Ted Williams of the Red Sox to bat for shortstop Luis Aparicio. Williams hit a wobbly ground ball between third and short; third baseman Thomas couldn't come up with it and was charged with an error on the difficult chance, Malzone going to second.

That's when Casey went to his bench again, calling on McDougald.

McDougald ran the count to two balls and one strike and then looped a single to center field, scoring Malzone. That turned out to be the ball game.

It might be a bad omen," the grizzled Yankee skipper said. "Every time I win the all-star game, I lose either the pennant or the world series... I sure hope it don't happen this year."

It seemed as if Oriole fans didn't care whether the American league won or not. Baltimore was entertaining its first all-star game and the fans wanted one of their own players to be a hero.

Rosskamp fired both his goals in the final quarter, the first sending Timbersmen ahead, 8-7, and the second breaking an 8-8 deadlock with only 40 seconds remaining.

Victory boosted the last-place Timbersmen within one point of the Shamrocks, who open a two-game, home-and-home series with the front-running New Westminster Salmonheads at Memorial Arena tonight.

Victoria has two games in hand over the T-Men, but defeats here tonight and at New Westminster Thursday could set the stage for the T-Men to step into third place when they host Pilseiners Saturday night.

FULL SHINES

Shamrocks may be in for a rough evening. Defenceman Ben Landess and Jack Howse are unable to get away from work and Jim McNulty and Derry Davies are bothered with leg injuries.

At Vancouver Tuesday night, Nanaimo goalie Fred Fuqua sparked in the opening half, blocking 21 of 23 shots as the Timbersmen scampered to a 5-2 lead.

Pilseiners found the range in the third quarter and carried a 7-6 advantage into the final period.

Skip McKey, who played another standout game, tied it up in the first minute of the quarter. Rosskamp put the T-Men ahead again, and after Pete Black evened the count at 13-13, Rosskamp broke through for the winner.

DUNC'S BOOK ON SOCCER HITS STANDS

LONDON (CP) — A book written by a young Manchester United soccer player who died from injuries suffered in the Feb. 6 Munich air crash has been published in Britain.

The book, Tackle Soccer This Way, is by Duncan Edwards, the brilliant England left half, who represented his country 18 times during his brief playing career. Manager Matt Busby described the 21-year-old former idol of Old Trafford fans as "the greatest player for his age I have ever seen."

The book publishers considered withholding the book after the Munich plane crash, which killed eight Manchester United players and three officials of the club. But after consultation with Edwards' relatives it was decided to release it "as a permanent record of his great faith in, and love for, the game of soccer."

"All profits from the book will go to the lord mayor of Manchester's fund for the dependents of those killed at Munich."

VANCOUVER (CP) — British clarify the respective status of Columbia Lions of the Western player and coach.

"Neither he (Sharkey) nor any other player, no matter who he is, can flunk discipline and stay around. I made this plain to Sharkey."

A Vancouver paper, in a dispatch from the Lions' training camp at Kelowna, B.C., says Sharkey, rated one of the west's top guards in 1957, stomped angrily away from a late blackboard drill Monday and announced he would quit.

He was missing from Tuesday morning's practice, but returned by lunchtime and joined in the afternoon session.

It was a tough stand by coach Clem Crowe that inspired the threat.

Sharkey is said to have criticized certain defensive tactics presented on the blackboard by backfield-coach Walter Schlinkman. Crowe stepped in to

Ross Making Irish Wonder

Victoria Shamrocks may have some misgivings today about their decision to release rookie Ross Rosskamp.

The Irish defenceman, who started the Inter-City Lacrosse League season with the Rocks, turned in his second straight two-goal performance at Vancouver Tuesday night to help Nanaimo Timbersmen to a 9-8 triumph over Vancouver Pilseiners.

Rosskamp fired both his goals in the final quarter, the first sending Timbersmen ahead, 8-7, and the second breaking an 8-8 deadlock with only 40 seconds remaining.

U.S. Tennis Not 'Weak', Just Dispersed—Jones

TORONTO, Ont. (UPI)—The key to Canadian chances of upsetting the United States in their North American semi-final Davis Cup series starting Thursday could lie in today's drawing for the opening singles pairings.

If luck is with Canada in the draw, non-playing team captain Lorne Main believes the host team has a great chance of beating a U.S. squad that is risking the use of young players in an effort to develop them for future matches.

ISLAND TOURNAMENT

Time to Turn Playoff Wheel

Victoria's Royal Athletic Park will be the site of the Vancouver Island Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament this weekend.

Local clubs entered in the two-day tourney will be the Victoria All-Stars coached by Al Heath and the Evening Optimist League All-Stars.

First game for the 13-to-15-age bracket boys starts Saturday at 10 a.m. and pits the strong Victoria club against Cowichan. At 3 p.m., Don Duncan's Optimists will tackle Youbou.

Winners meet for the title at 12:30 Sunday. The Island champions will proceed to Penticton on July 24 to represent the Island in the B.C. championships.

Regional playoffs are slated for Klamath Falls, Oregon, early in August, and the Babe Ruth World Series will be held in Vancouver later in the month.

Victoria won the B.C. championships in 1956.

Losing teams Saturday will play a consolation game at 10 a.m. Sunday.

CUSTOMS MEN BUSY

Big Pleasure Boat Fleet Over Weekend

SIDNEY—A new record was set for last Sunday, when line-ups were filled three hours before sailing time and 100 craft were turned away.

Only way to relieve the crush at the customs float here was to send 39 of the boats to Canoe Cove, where customs officers made a four-mile trip to give them service.

The huge crowd was attributed to the long weekend starting with Independence Day July 4.

During June 157 pleasure craft visited here. In the same period a year ago the total was 112.

Ferry traffic also is setting records, with 7,349 cars and 24,220 passengers entering Canada through this port in June. Last June the total was 4,112 cars and 13,883 passengers.

The ferries, busier because of the current CPR strike, have been able to handle all traffic except

Esquimalt Hikes Trade Tax

Esquimalt council is renovating its trade licence bylaw and as of July 15 will increase revenues from this source by an approximate 50 per cent.

Trade licence revenues, now about $7,500 annually are expected to be increased by more than $3,000.

Individual licence holders will find their rates increased in varying amounts, however—and many never taxed before will now come under the licensing regulations.

The bylaw is slated for final passage at a special council meeting at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said today, "we hope the changes will be very reasonable. We are trying to bring the charge in line with other municipalities. Some kinks are still to be ironed out, but we think it will be fair."

One of the biggest and most controversial changes will be in regard to firms in other municipalities. For instance, if a Victoria department store makes a furniture sale to an Esquimalt resident in Victoria, but delivers the goods to an Esquimalt home, the firm will be liable for business tax.

Real estate firms, "even if they list a house in Esquimalt will be liable for a $10 a year tax."

Rates for service stations will at least double from the previous rate of $10 flat rate for six months. Now the licence will be $10 per pump every six months, for the first two pumps and $2.50 for each additional pump.

Esquimalt's only bank will have its fee raised from $5 to $100 a year.

A RESEARCH REPORT...

The health aspects of cigarette smoking

Since 1953, British, American and more recently Canadian doctors have issued warnings suggesting a link between smoking and lung cancer.

AS AN established and leading member of the industry, Rothmans accepts that it is its duty to find a solution to the problem, and would like it known that the question of the relationship between cancer and smoking has for many years engaged the attention of the Research Division of its world-wide organization.

Several years ago the Rothmans Research Division had already accepted the thesis that:

"The greater the tar reduction in tobacco smoke, the greater the reduction in the possible risk of lung cancer."

During the recent annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association held at Halifax, N.S., a distinguished Canadian doctor, according to newspaper reports, called upon the Canadian tobacco industry for action on the following:

1. Manufacture an effective filter
2. Remove harmful substances from tobacco before manufacturing
3. Modify combustion to reduce tar

Here is an up-to-the-minute progress report on where Rothmans Research stands in respect to these 3 points.

1. Manufacture an effective filter

Rothmans Research has developed many experimental filter tips including one which filters virtually 100% of the total solids in tobacco smoke. Such extreme filtration is unnecessary, and obviously would be unacceptable to the smoker.

Since 1950, continuous Rothmans Research has steadily improved filtration, simultaneously with improvements to the taste of filter tip cigarettes. Today's Rothmans filter offers the best balance between filtration and satisfaction known to science.

The performance of today's Canadian-made Rothmans King Size Filter is as follows:

Rothmans King Size Filter . . .

yields 14.4% less tar than brand "A" yields 30.0% less tar than brand "B" yields 30.2% less tar than brand "C" yields 38.7% less tar than brand "D"

(Letters substituted for the names of four other best selling filter brands in Canada.)

2. Remove harmful substances from tobacco before manufacturing

Recently, Rothmans Research made another significant discovery, namely that certain types of tobaccos, when smoked, produce less tar and nicotine than others. Constant vigilance by Rothmans Research laboratories ensures that only costlier, milder, lighter virginia is selected for Rothmans cigarettes. As distinct from the old trial and error approach to smoking cigarettes, Rothmans leadership in research is your guarantee of purity and consistent quality.

The benefits of this discovery were announced in Canadian newspapers on May 13th, 1958.

The performance of today's Canadian-made Rothmans King Size plain end cigarette is as follows: (Letters substituted for the names of the three best known plain end brands in Canada):

Rothmans King Size Untipped . . .

yields 26.5% less tar than brand "Y"
yields 26.7% less tar than brand "Y"
yields 34.0% less tar than brand "Z"

Note: Above percentages for filter and plain end cigarettes are based on two sets of tests by an outstanding independent research laboratory. One test was carried out last year and the other this year. Percentages given apply to tar from equivalent millimeters of length smoked. Original documents of these findings may be seen by calling personally at the offices of Rothmans of Pall Mall Canada Limited, 64 Senior Road, Toronto.

3. Modify combustion to reduce tar

The Rothmans group of companies invented the world's first King Size Filter in 1951. The purpose of the extra length of king size cigarettes is to cool the smoke on the way to the throat. The extra length also enables the smoker to stub out a longer butt, for it is the last one-third of the cigarette which, if smoked, generates more heat—hence more tar. Rothmans Research Division declares that the extra length is provided for cooler smoking, rather than more puffs from the butt.

Finally, Rothmans Research Division pledges itself to continue its policy of all-out research, and to give smokers of Rothmans cigarettes improvements as soon as they are developed.

And, if in addition to the foregoing, smokers themselves will practise moderation, Rothmans believes that smoking can still remain one of life's simple and safe pleasures.

Mr. Prime Minister, I want to speak a few words in my free men, everywhere. — End halting French to my French friends of Canada?

I recall so well when your gracious Queen came to Washington from Ottawa we spoke together of the beauty of this city and the greatness of Canada.

It is good to return—to see old friends and to make new ones. I came here first in 1946 to congratulate the Canadian people on the brilliant role played by the Canadian forces you placed under my command in the Second World War which had then recently ended in victory.

My next visit was made as commander of NATO forces in Europe. In 1953 I returned near completion and next year it will be open. This is truly a great joint accomplishment. It will open up important regions of both Canada and the United States to ocean traffic. It will ever stand as a monument to what can be achieved by the common effort of two sovereign nations.

On that same occasion I spoke of the need to devise ways to protect our North America from any surprise attack. Since then we have made great strides. The distant early warning (DEW) line has been built and placed in operation. In the process of construction I am sure much has been learned which will contribute to a more rapid development of the northern reaches of Canada and our new state of Alaska.

Last month an agreement was concluded between our two governments to establish a combined air defence headquarters for this continent. We have also—both of us—striven, as we will continue to strive, for the Soviet Union's agreement to a system of inspection to protect against surprise attack through the Arctic. Recent Soviet communications have strengthened our hope that they will come to see that by such a system any basis for their professed fears of an attack across the pole will be removed. For Canada and the United States such a system in operation would add measurably to our security against a sudden attack. Possibly it might also pave the way for still further measures of arms control and permit some reduction of the burden and danger of modern armaments.

Both of these developments, the seaway—a broadened, deepened road for peaceful commerce—and the strengthening of our common defence of the continent strikingly illustrate two things.

The first is that change is the law of life and of relations between nations. When two great peoples such as ours, energetic and optimistic, live side by side in all the diversity that freedom offers, change is rapid and brings in its wake problems, sometimes frictions.

The second lesson that I see in these common achievements is that of both of us of the dissimilarities in our forms of government.

And yet, despite these dissimilarities in form, our two governments are developing, and are increasingly using effective ways to consult and act together. This we do to meet the problems that confront us in our relations with each other, and in the relations of both with other nations of the world.

We share the basic belief that only under free institutions, with government the servant and not the master, can the individual secure his life, his liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. We are both determined to frame and follow policies which safeguard the lives and homes of our people, their peace of mind, their material well being and, above all other things, their ideals. True to these ideals, both of our countries are determined that the great decisions of peace and war will remain always under civilian control.

Moreover, we both recognize a design of aggressive Communist imperialism which threatens every free nation. Both of us face a military threat and political attacks. Our system of free enterprise is challenged throughout the world by a state-directed, state-controlled economic system. Indeed, this could well be the area in which the competition will be most bitter and most decisive between the free world and Communist imperialism. We must never allow ourselves to become so preoccupied with the differences between our two nations that we lose sight of the transcendent importance of free world co-operation in the winning of the global struggle.

Common Dedication

Acting in accordance with our common dedication, the two of us, with others, have drawn together in collective security arrangements. The most notable of these is the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in which both Canada and the United States are equal partners. We are both determined to maintain what George Washington described as "a respectable military posture." We are equally determined to maintain our institutions in good repair and to insure that our economies function well.

Thus we seek not only to meet the expanding needs of our people but also to set an example of free men's accomplishments which will encourage and attract those less fortunate. And finally we are agreed that we shall never cease striving for a just and lasting peace to be achieved by negotiation with those who challenge us. We overlook no opportunity to settle the issues which divide the world and under safeguarded conditions to reduce the burden of armaments.

Against this background of similarity in basic factors let me now point to some of the matters which it seems to me are troublesome between us. Among these are the surplus wheat disposal policies of the United States, the imbalance in our mutual trade, certain aspects of United States private investment in Canada, and Canadian fears of a trend in the United States away from forward-looking policies in the field of trade.

I want to address myself as well to the other side of the trade equation, namely your exports to the United States. Here you can rightly say that, through quotas and tariffs, our governmental policies can either expand or restrict your opportunities to sell to us. The same is of course true of actions taken by your government which can affect the volume of our exports to Canada.

Protection Needed

I am sure you agree that we should talk frankly to each other. Frankness, in good spirit, is a measure of friendship. It should be the practice, I believe, on both sides to speak, when either feels that important interests are adversely affected by actions contemplated or taken by the other. Happily, these instances are rare. In mentioning today specific problems on which we do not see eye to eye, I am doing so as an American, expressing an American viewpoint. I can assure you that your prime minister, in discussing these problems with my associates and me, most loyally and eloquently expresses the viewpoint of Canada.

It is my conviction that for all our present problems and all our future ones we will find acceptable solutions. It will take understanding, common sense and a willingness to give and take on both our parts. These qualities we have always found in our dealings with Canada. I hope that you have not found them lacking in us.

First then, I would like to comment briefly on our surplus wheat disposal policies. I do not think anyone can quarrel with our purpose though some of our methods may seem unorthodox by traditional standards. Simply stated, our wheat disposal program has three aspects.

In times of local famine or disaster we give wheat away. We have also bartered it for strategic materials. Finally, we sell wheat for local currency to countries which cannot afford to purchase it commercially. These cases our policy is to lend back to the government in question most of the proceeds for local economic development. Our intent is not to damage normal commercial markets and in this I think we have been generally successful.

Objections Removed

I know that in the past there was criticism of certain aspects of these programs and particularly of our barter arrangements. I believe that the basis for these objections has been largely removed. Increasingly close consultation between officials and of our two governments has ironed out many misunderstandings respecting our surplus disposals. Your government knows in detail what we are planning. I assure you that it is our desire and intention to keep the doors of consultation fully open. There must never be a final word between friends.

In several respects, despite inconvenience and even occasional damage in the past, Canada stands to benefit from our moving some surplus agricultural commodities into consumption overseas. First and most evident of all, many hungry people around the United States into Canada has led to expressions of concern on your part. These funds have been attracted to your country by the business opportunities Canada offered. Though they may raise questions in specific cases respecting control of an industry by American citizens, these industries are, of course, subject to Canadian law. Moreover, these investments have helped you to develop your resources and to expand your industrial plant at a far faster rate than would have been possible had you relied wholly on your own savings. They have thereby helped to provide employment, tax revenues and other direct benefits. These funds have also helped Canada to finance with ease its recent surplus of imports from the United States, a fact that is testified to by the premium of the Canadian dollar over the United States dollar.

I am confident that if there are some defects in this investment process, ways will be found to correct them. That is in the interests of both our countries.

Historic Decision

One final word on the foreign trade policy of the United States. In 1934 the United States took an historic decision to embark on a positive policy of fostering trade with the launching of the reciprocal trade agreements program. This policy we continue to support and reaffirmed this policy. Have no fear. The government of the United States, after a public searching of soul at times of renewal of the Trade Agreements Act, has consistently reaffirmed that the United States will abandon so well established a policy. The problems I have been discussing concern our economic lives. Our points of economic contact are varied and numerous, as they of necessity must be under our chosen system of private enterprise. Our governments have a responsibility to compose difficulties, but we must not forget that thousands of individual citizens of Canada and the United States must themselves find in their diversified activities the answers to many of these problems.

Finally, there is no cause to be surprised or disturbed to discover that occasionally differences arise between us. The distinguishing character of the peoples of the free world lies in the fact that differences between them can develop, be expressed and amicably resolved.

We in the United States have no more desire than you to seek in our relations with others the silent, sullen unity that elsewhere has been purchased or imposed. The hallmark of freedom is the right to differ as well as the right to agree.

It is for us to bring to those who went before us, have challenge a response worthy of built, all that we believe in, is ourselves and our nations. As we do, we shall know the challenged before. The new satisfaction of having built, in the horizons of competition range friendship, a safer and ampler from the polar areas, and ex home here on earth for this tend to the infinity of outer generation and those that shall come after us.

NAZI AVIATOR CLAIMS

Russ-German Plot To Conquer World

LONDON (AP) — A leading British airman says the late Ernst Heinkel told him Germany is plotting a third, world war against the Western Allies—this time with the Soviet Union on the German side.

Air vice-Marshal D. C. T. Bennett of the RAF made this statement in a book, Pathfinder, published recently.

Bennett, 47, was commander of the RAF Pathfinder planes that led British bombers to their targets in the Second World War.

The marshal said Heinkel, designer and builder of many of the Third Reich's warplanes, outlined the plot to conquer the world in a burst of alcoholic loquacity at a luncheon he gave Bennett in Germany several years ago. Heinkel died Jan. 30 at the age of 70.

INFILTRATE U.S.S.R.

Bennett quoted Heinkel as saying the salient features of the plot were:

German aircraft designers and other technicians would go to the Soviet Union voluntarily and work their way into key posts.

Germany would pretend to accept defeat and collaborate with the Western Allies until it could build up a new army and air force.

A "Go home, Yanks" campaign would then begin and attempts made to cause differences between the United States and Britain. Once the Americans were persuaded to withdraw, Germany would dominate Europe.

Then Germany would make a military pact with the Soviet Union—as she did in 1939—and launch a new war of conquest.

"We are not going to be beaten a third time," Heinkel was quoted as saying.

Why Are the Stars Different Colors?

If you are a careful stargazer you can detect slight differences of color in the stars. Bright Sirius sparkles like a clear white diamond. Aldebaran, in Taurus, the Bull, glows with a bright orange color and big Betelgeuse in Orion glows with a dull red. This is not imagination. The stars actually do shine with different colors.

All stars are very hot, but some are much hotter than others. And, we are told, it is temperature which causes the differences in star colors. To an astronomer, the color of a star gives a clue to its temperature. Star colors range from dull red to brilliant blue-white. And the stars may be classed according to their color. Each color class is given a letter of the alphabet.

Betelgeuse is in star class M. Its spectrum shows that titanium oxide, a compound, is present. Big Bet is a giant red star. Its temperature is 5,500 degrees Fahrenheit; about half as hot as our sun. Aldebaran is K type star. Its spectrum shows that it contains more metals than hydrogen. Its temperature is around 7,500 degrees Fahrenheit.

Procyon is in star class F. Its spectrum shows that titanium oxide, a compound, is present. Big Bet is a giant red star. Its temperature is 5,500 degrees Fahrenheit; about half as hot as our sun. Aldebaran is K type star. Its spectrum shows that it contains more metals than hydrogen. Its temperature is around 7,500 degrees Fahrenheit.

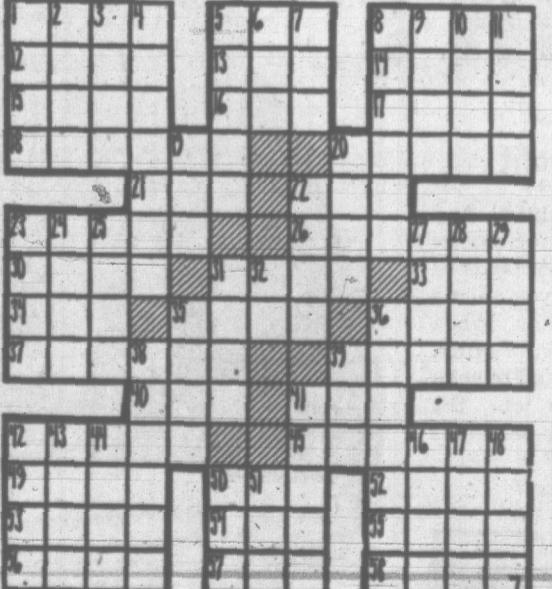

Brilliant Sirius is a white star in class A. Its spectrum shows that hydrogen gas is predominant and its temperature is about 20,000 degrees Fahrenheit, almost twice as hot as the sun. Class B includes the blue-white stars in which helium gas is most noticeable. Rigel, at the foot of Orion, is a blue-white star of class B. Its surface temperature seethes around 36,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Polio Epidemic Hits Reserve in Montana

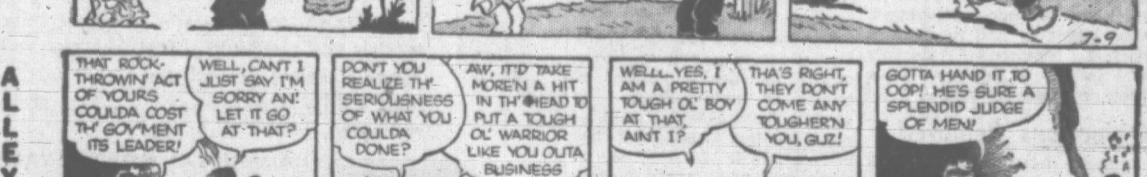

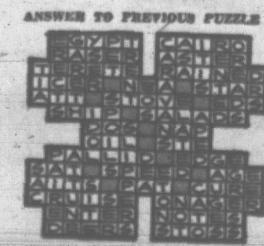

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — A polio epidemic has broken out on the Blackfeet Indian reservation in northwestern Montana. Dr. Charles S. McCammon, Indian health service medical officer, said Monday night. Seven cases, including six the last week, have been reported.

Herpetology is the science which deals with reptiles and amphibians.

Hotter still are the stars in their habits.

Community Chest Needs Voluntary Aid

The Community Chest system makes the best use of voluntary help for charity, W. C. Mearns, chairman of the Red Feather organization's special gifts section, said today.

"The plan of a United Appeal once a year on behalf of the 20 participating agencies seems a highly desirable and practical one," said the vice-president of B.C. Eletric.

The Community Chest method of supporting needed charitable organizations retains the personal freedom of giving along with its reward in satisfaction," he said.

"At the same time, it employs the voluntary work of committees and canvassers to maximum advantage."

DR. H. H. MURPHY

3-Section Book Lauds 100-Year Hospital Record

By MONTE ROBERTS

A hospital is the heart of the community.

This might well be the subtitle of Dr. H. H. Murphy's excellently-researched book honoring the 100th year of operation of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

A specially-bound copy is to be presented to Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross Friday.

Dr. Murphy, who retired in 1951 after 20 years as director of the department of radiology at Jubilee, believes that this particular hospital is an integral part of the community of Victoria.

"Right from the very beginning, in 1858, the hospital and the city have worked together and grown together," he says.

His book goes back to the time when there was no place in the burgeoning city of Victoria where the ailing could be cared for; back to the time the hospital, then called the Royal Hospital, was opened in a borrowed house.

ADMIRATION SHOWN

Dr. Murphy traces the progress of the hospital—and some of its temporary setbacks—with a pen which is inked with admiration for the institution.

He also pays tribute to individuals and organizations in the community who worked on behalf of the institution.

Dr. Murphy's book is in three sections: The Royal Hospital, 1858 to 1890; the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, 1890 to 1938, and the Royal Jubilee Hospital, 1938 to 1958.

Prosecution Only If Complaint Filed

Illegal sales by retail stores on Sunday will be prosecuted only if complaints are laid. Mayor Percy Scurrah said Monday.

Mayor Scurrah, who doubles as police commission chairman, said Victoria "simply hasn't got the men" in the police department to watch all shops.

His comment followed a request by retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce that city council enforce the store-closing laws.

Car Accident
Last Dec. 20
Brings $50 Fine

Louis P. Anderson, 1216 North Park, in city police court Tuesday was found guilty on a charge of careless driving and was fined $50 and his driver's license was suspended.

Lawyer James Proudfit, representing Anderson, asked for dismissal for lack of evidence. He called no evidence for the defense.

MULTIPLE INJURIES

Anderson's car was in collision last Dec. 20 with pedestrian Mrs. Constance Wilhelmina Olsen, 1227 Pandora, a woman in her 60s who spent a month in hospital recovering from multiple injuries, and who laid the charge.

The accident was at Pandora and Cook at 12:30 p.m. during a rain, court was told.

Anderson's car was making a slow left turn from Pandora to go south on Cook as Mrs. Olsen was walking, umbrella in hand, from west to east in the south crosswalk over Cook, according to evidence.

"Is the purpose of this charge to obtain information for a civil action?" Mr. Proudfit asked her.

Mr. Proudfit also asked why there had been such a long delay before the charge was sworn June 13. Mrs. Olsen said that also was up to her lawyers.

Cons. Thomas Smith was asked why the police did not lay a charge, and he told the defense counsel, "I didn't think there was sufficient evidence to justify a charge."

WENT TO POLICE

Cons. Smith said Anderson had gone to the police the day following the accident and related that as he had turned the corner at about 5:8 miles an hour, Mrs. Olsen was half way across the street, then hesitated and backed into his car.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said since Anderson was driving slowly there was no reason for him to strike the woman.

KHRUSHCHEV BOAST TO GERMANS

We Will Defeat Capitalism!

BERLIN (Reuters) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev today visited an East German chemical factory and a collective farm in the Halle region 100 miles from here.

Tuesday, he told a crowd of 20,000 massed in the Halle market square that "we will defeat capitalism with our work and without war." He added: "We are for co-existence."

The crowd roared when Khrushchev mocked American earth satellites as "late grapefruits."

"What are they compared with one Sputnik?" he asked.

The visit to the chemical factory followed within hours of the disclosure that Horst Willim, head of the chemical industry's trade union in East Germany, has been fired for "lack of ideological clarity."

Russia recently launched a campaign to develop the Soviet chemical industry. An agreement signed this week provides for increased East German chemical exports to Russia.

Khrushchev told workers at Halle Tuesday night that the chemical industry is an "extraordinary important branch" of the Soviet economy.

MONTE ROBERTS

The owners of the Water Tourist are to be congratulated on their enterprise.

The Water Tourist is the sightseeing boat which takes visitors on delightful little cruises around the Inner Harbor and environs.

Well, the owners of the Water Tourist have taken note of the fact the navy is conducting some sort of a show here next week.

There will be a great many ships anchored in Royal Roads, the owners have found out, and this is where the enterprise comes in.

They are changing the route of the Water Tourist so its passengers can see the ships at anchor.

But what I like best is the way the owners of the Water Tourist advertise this fact.

A nice, colorful sign on the causeway says:

CANADIAN NAVAL REVUE

I can hardly wait to see the chorus buoys.

And then there was the sailor who was affected by dizzy spells.

He had a whirli in every port.

A constituent has sent along, without comment, the following clipping from an unidentified London newspaper.

PRINCESS TO SEE BACKWOODS.

Victoria, British Columbia, Thursday. Princess Margaret's two-week tour of British Columbia next month will take her north for a look at the "new frontier" and into remote backwoods regions where gold was found a century ago.

From my friend (I guess) B.H. comes this contribution to centennial knowledge:

"In 1895 a survey party was out in the region which is now known as Shelburne Street, when a bright little French Canadian who was attached to the party as a lineman and who always saw the obvious said 'See da hill,' so they promptly named it Cedar Hill."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Low cloud late tonight and Thursday morning will disperse by noon and leave Thursday afternoon sunny and warm, the weatherman said today.

Winds will be southwesterly, up to 15 miles per hour in the afternoon, and temperatures tonight and Thursday will range between 52 and 70 degrees.

Results of the Tuesday session of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club are: North-South—Elizabeth Warren and Lil Tattersall, Veilma Acres and George Morgan, Doug Hawkes and Bill Simpson-Baikie, and Larry MacMillan and Harry Parry; East-West—Edith Boid and George Marsden, Frank Artlett and Gordon Rodger, Mr. and Mrs. W. McConnell, and Sam Duprau and Otto Leesment.

Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada is still searching for volunteer taggers who will be posted on city streets Saturday in a drive to raise $2,000. Sea cadets, Navy League cadets and Wrenettes will serve as taggers, but anyone else willing to help is asked to phone 4-3706.

Picnickers will need box lunches and their own cups for tea which will be provided at the park.

Regular city council meeting will be held Thursday afternoon in City Hall council chamber.

Opening and closing dates of the hunting seasons in B.C. will be approximately the same in 1958 as they were last year. Frank Butler, director of fish and game branch, said today.

SPECIAL DRINKING WATER SUPPLIED FOR PRINCESS

Two gallons of purified drinking water have been prepared for Princess Margaret by the Victoria office of Canada Dry Ltd. It will be delivered to the vestry of Christ Church Cathedral shortly before her attendance there Sunday.

Said an official, "We were told the Princess asks for this water everywhere she goes. She likes it in case she gets thirsty."

He added that as the Princess will be sitting in a front pew, "she will probably tell an aide to get the water if she needs it."

The order for the water came from Government House in Ottawa. "Of course," the official said, "there will be no charge."

He declined to say what method was used to purify the water.

No Civic Holiday Decision Stands

Mayor Percy Scurrah today declined to take a second look at an earlier decision not to proclaim a holiday during Princess Margaret's four-day visit here.

His answer came to a suggestion that a half-day holiday should be proclaimed Tuesday afternoon when thousands of persons are expected to desert the downtown area to see the once-in-a-lifetime naval review in Royal Roads.

"If the provincial government had declared a holiday my view might be different. But it hasn't," he said.

The mayor added that a Tuesday afternoon holiday, along with the likelihood that many stores will close Monday morning to serve customers who want to make purchases.

He said the consensus of store managers was that even if many sales clerks were given time off to see the review, the stores should remain open to serve customers who want to make purchases.

Parking Rules Announced During Visit of Princess

Parking restrictions in connection with navy week and the visit of Princess Margaret were announced by city police today.

There will be no parking permitted along the routes except where designated and traffic will not be closed off as long as motorists pull to the side when they see motorcycle police escorts approaching.

No parking will be permitted in front of city hall, where the Princess will meet dignitaries before the Monday parade.

Pedestrians will not be restricted, but are warned not to crowd close to official cars. No close-up flash photos are permitted either.

NO MORE TICKETS AVAILABLE FOR ROYAL CHURCH SERVICE

No more tickets are available for Princess Margaret's visit to Christ Church Cathedral next Sunday morning.

Dean Brian Whitlow announced today that tickets have been issued to parishioners who regularly worship at the Cathedral so that they may find a place as usual.

It is possible, he said, that a few seats may be available to the general public after 10:30 a.m. when ticketholders will have taken their places in the Cathedral.

TRIPLE RACIAL INHERITANCE

Singer Eagerly Anticipating Unique Experience at Butchart's

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
Flowers are no strangers to Charles Konaonalauai Llewellyn Davis.

Various possibilities had attracted him including following in the steps of his father, a doctor. Davis was mentioned at one time but most of all young Charles thought seriously about becoming an historian.

In fact he has not altogether abandoned the last interest and may easily become famous in a dual capacity. He is working on a treatise on the history of Hawaii.

Other interests include tennis, swimming and stamps.

But music has always played an important part—piano, organ, choir singing at first. Then Davis took up a challenge to Magistrate H. C. Hall, who found the trio guilty Monday and dismissed the charge against their male companions William Podovinoff and Tim Jmaeff, said he took into consideration a statement on behalf of the attorney-general before passing sentence.

Miss McKay was held and an attempt made to strip her after the three Doukhobors, representing interior B.C. Doukhobor mothers with children in New Denver School, met her as a delegation to ask release of children for the summer at least.

"This is a very serious charge, to attack an officer of the government," Magistrate Hall said.

"I have given this a good deal of consideration, but in view of the very considerate statement of counsel on behalf of the attorney-general, I am prepared to, and do, suspend sentence."

His words were interpreted to the women standing in the box wearing their drab, black dresses and headscarves.

Prosecutor T. P. O'Grady had told the court, "I have taken instruction from the attorney-general's department regarding sentence, and with respect submit that leniency be not misplaced. In other words that they be treated as any other persons, neither with prejudice nor favor."

He suggested a suspended sentence "might be in order."

The women filed from the court, followed by Doukhobor spectators who included daughters of the accused.

In his new capacity he will provide liaison between the company and community organizations.

Mr. Merilees is succeeded as public information department manager by Peter C. Woodward, the company's director of public information for the Fraser Valley.

He pleaded guilty and must pay $400 penalty. His fine for the offence was $50.

Police said Granger was in charge of premises known as United Cigar Stand at 1318 Government when a raid was conducted July 2 at 4:30 p.m. The usual racing paraphernalia was found, police said.

Granger's last conviction for the offence was Feb. 5 of this year.

GOVERNMENT JOB

A high post in the provincial government service is in store for Arnold Webb who is leaving his job as managing secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at the end of this week. The Times learned from an authoritative source today that Mr. Webb will take over a deputy minister's position. He is going on vacation before moving into the Legislative Buildings.

Post as Manager Of Chamber Gets Many Applications

Applications for the post of managing secretary of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, following the resignation of Arnold Webb, have been received from all over Canada. Austin Curtis, chairman of the ways and means committee, said today.

"No appointment has yet been made," Mr. Curtis said. "We have had dozens of applications from as far east as Halifax and Truro, Nova Scotia, and they will all be carefully examined."

The vacant post was advertised recently in the Financial Post published in Toronto.

Mr. Webb is leaving the chamber at the end of this week after three years' service.

7th Conviction For Bookmaking Draws $400 Fine

George H. Granger, 3161 Donald, was fined for the seventh time in city police court today for keeping a horse betting room.

A civic reception outside Victoria City Hall awaits the victorious Mount View High School Band on its return from the Calgary Stampede next Friday.

The band, conducted by Howard Denike, won the Calgary Stampede and Exhibition Trophy in the international jubilee band competition last Sunday; competing against both adult and high school bands.

A reception for them is being organized by Victoria and Saanich city councils and Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

"We feel they deserve this recognition," Arnold Webb, managing director of the Chamber, said today.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Male dress at parties:

Are morning coats and striped trousers still worn by middle-aged men? My husband wanted to wear such an outfit to a recent Sunday supper party, although I dissuaded him, feeling that he might appear conspicuous. Would he have been right in doing so?

Louise Davis answers:

Your husband would not only Louise Davis have felt out of place, but the suit would have been out of place. The morning coat and striped trousers, commonly known as the cut-a-way, is worn at ultra formal daytime functions exclusively. It is never worn at a party scheduled for any time after six o'clock. I am certain that you didn't see any at the supper party and my guess is that there were no tuxedos or tails worn either, although they would have been appropriate for a formal evening-party. However, they are in the minority these days, as most men seem to prefer to keep their formal attire in moth balls and wear their conservative business suits unless a host and hostess indicate or stipulate that their evening party calls for black tie (tuxedo) or white tie (tails).

Dressing for barbecue:

I am invited to a large outdoor barbecue at a beautiful estate. What should I wear—a sport dress or summer evening gown?

Louise Davis answers:

Since an outdoor barbecue is a first cousin to a picnic, wear a simple sport dress. Formal evening attire would be out of place at such a party.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

These Exercises Will Help Free You From Insomnia

At the end of a day we are and rolling backward. You will apt to have tension and slight muscle spasms in our back. We are especially likely to feel fatigue through the shoulder and neck. The following exercises are magic in that they relax us for sleep or before dressing for a gay evening.

This tension is one reason for insomnia. I hope you will take this routine seriously because it can give you a much better grade of sleep. Lie on your back on the bed. Place a couple of pillows under your knees but have NO pillow under your head. This in itself is restful. Now turn your head as far to the left as you can. Try to bring your chin over your shoulder. Turn head forward. This time turn your head to the right. Turn forward. Continue, slowly, feeling the pull and alternating left and right.

Now rest your arms on the bed overhead, legs straight, (remove pillows from under knees). Push back with your right arm as you push forward with your right leg. Push from the hip joint, and let your heel lead. Hold while you feel the stretch. Do the same thing with your left arm and leg. Continue slowly, alternating right and left.

You will find these four exercises most relaxing. Do each one in the sequence given and for long enough to feel that you have had a massage. Many busy people use these tricks.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Shut-eye," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 34. Address: Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

NEWCOMERS TO VICTORIA

Interesting newcomers to the city are South Africans Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Bellstedt and their family. They arrived a few weeks ago from their home in Paarl, near Cape Town, and plan to make their home here. Mr. Bellstedt, a graduate of Stellenbosch University, is a wine chemist, and will be assistant production manager with a local wine company. Mrs. Bellstedt, also a university graduate, majored in Latin and English, which probably accounts for the facility with which all members of the family (except baby Johann-Christoph) speak English as well as Afrikaans and German. Mrs. Bellstedt and the children, Albrecht, Elizabeth and Johann-Christoph, are pictured at their home at Cordova Bay.

Jeanita Ellen Wood, daughter of Mrs. Isma Forques of Vancouver, became the bride of Terence Rowland Moody, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Moody of Ontario Street, Victoria.

Rev. Thomas Bailey conducted the ceremony.

The attractive bride was given in marriage by her uncle, A. E. Pendray. She wore a gown of white tiered chiffon in floor length. The fitted bodice featured a square-cut neckline.

The necklace was cut in a seal-lop effect and was off-the-shoulder. Attendants, Miss Marlene Mitchell and Mrs. D. Johnstone, wore identical gowns in rose tones. All attendants wore white feathered bandeaux and white accessories and carried bouquets of carnations and Stephanotis.

Best man was James Moody and ushers were Ormond Wood and George Robbins.

Walter Yeamans proposed the toast at a reception in Loughed's banquet club.

For travelling through the United States on honeymoon, the new Mrs. Moody wore an electric blue shantung silk sheath dress with navy blue duster coat and matching hat. Her corsage was an orchid.

Future of Club Magazine Debated at Convention

EDMONTON (CP)—Canada's business women's magazine is going to retain its primary function—to speak for its parent, the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

More than 400 delegates to the federation's 16th biennial convention here Tuesday night decided to maintain The Business and Professional Woman as a federation organ rather than extend it as a general reader-publication.

The federation's four-day meeting continues today with reports from committee chairmen and provincial presidents.

Elizabeth Forbes, federation editorial chairman, in a report on the club magazine said the 24-page bi-monthly publication now has reached a crossroads.

Last year, for the first time in its 28-year history, the magazine which began as a mimeographed sheet carried advertising worth more than $1,200.

Miss Forbes, women's editor of The Victoria Daily Times, said advertising officials have indicated that to get more advertisers using the magazine, more articles of special interest to a wider business and professional women's readership are necessary.

Convention delegates, however, supported a federation board recommendation that the magazine's present format and content be continued along with the sale of advertising space for another two years when a final decision on its future may be made.

Robert McDonald Paterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Paterson of Vancouver. Rev Douglas Carr officiated and attendants were Mrs. E. Williams and Mr. William Smart. A reception for relatives and friends was held later at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Williams.

Feather-Light Maple Desserts Delicious Change for Summer

Maple mousse, maple icing, 1 cup maple syrup, 2 cups and maple macaroons are three feather-light maple treats for summer.

MAPLE MOUSSE

One-quarter cup water, 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatine, fold in the syrup and gelatine

1 cup maple syrup, 2 cups mixture. Pour into a mould and chill until set. Unmould and serve decorated with nuts or whipped cream.

MAPLE ICING

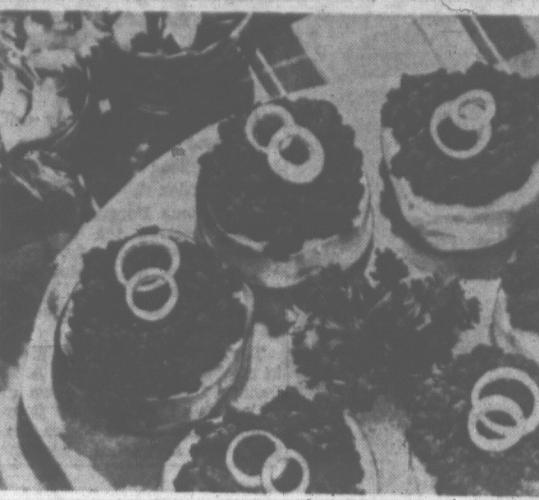

One-half cup maple syrup, 1 egg white, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt.

Boil the maple syrup five minutes. Beat the egg white and salt together until stiff. Pour the hot syrup slowly into the egg white, beating constantly until very fluffy and firm. Use as icing on spice or light cakes.

MAPLE MACAROONS

Four egg whites, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup maple syrup, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 2 cups coconut.

Beat the egg whites until stiff. Gradually fold in the maple syrup, cornstarch and coconut. Drop by spoonfuls onto a buttered cookie sheet. Cook in slow oven (300 deg. F.) for 30 to 40 minutes or until macaroons are dry.

Cinnamon Apples Team With Lamb

A lamb shoulder roast with cinnamon apple rings is such a delightful meal that the family will never know you are pulling on the purse strings. The delicate flavor of the lamb and the spicy goodness of the apples make a marvelous combination.

Lamb is a young, tender meat that takes kindly to most any good cooking method. The shoulder roast, for example, does nicely on a rack in an open roasting pan. A slow oven (325 degrees) cooks the meat to perfection yet keeps shrinkage to a minimum. This insures the greatest number of servings from the meat you buy.

The cinnamon apple rings may be cooked in the oven during the last hour the meat is roasting. Cinnamon candies give them their rosy pink color. You will want to baste the apple slices with the spicy liquid to be sure the flavors blend.

LAMB WITH APPLE RINGS

Four to 6 pound lamb shoulder roast, 3 baking apples, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground cloves, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup red cinnamon candies.

Place roast, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan, in a slow oven (350° F.). Roast for 55 minutes per pound for well-done lamb.

To prepare apple rings, core apples. Cut each apple in 4 rings. Place apple rings in a baking dish in a single layer. Mix water and lemon juice together and pour over apples.

Combine cloves, sugar and cinnamon candies. Sprinkle evenly over apples. Bake in a slow oven (325° F.) for 1 hour or until apples are tender. Baste occasionally to blend flavors and to give the apples a pink color. Serve hot with lamb shoulder roast.

Yield: Six servings.

SAUCE FOR LAMB

Four to 6 pound lamb shoulder roast, 10 ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup, 2 teaspoons tarragon vinegar, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup melted butter, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon garlic powder, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground rosemary.

Place lamb shoulder roast, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan, in a slow oven (325° F.). Roast for 55 minutes per pound for well-done lamb. Insert a roast meat thermometer into the thickest part of the meat, not touching bone. Remove the lamb from the oven when the thermometer registers an internal temperature of 180° F.

To prepare sauce, mix and heat all ingredients together in a saucepan. Serve hot with lamb shoulder roast.

Yield: Six servings.

'Man Without Country' Rejects 'Suggestion' He Leaves Canada

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Christian George L. Hanna, for many months dubbed the "man without a country" when he was first granted asylum in Canada in February, 1957, Tuesday turned down a "suggestion" that he leave Canada if he felt he was dissatisfied.

Phillip Bird, Vancouver immigration superintendent, said he interviewed Hanna in the psychiatric ward of Vancouver General Hospital. Hanna is being treated in the hospital after being given a suspended sentence on a morals charge.

"I told him that if he were dissatisfied I would recommend to the immigration minister that he be assisted to leave Canada," said Mr. Bird. "He turned it down."

Mr. Bird said Hanna's con-

Gas Firm Officers Charged

TORONTO (CP) — Charges against Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company Limited, three of its officers and one former officer were laid Tuesday by the Ontario Securities Commission.

The charges involve trading in the company's shares.

Three provincial cabinet ministers have resigned in the Northern Ontario controversy amid disclosures that they held shares in the company.

13 CHARGES

Five informations were sworn out by the commission Tuesday in Toronto magistrate's court. They covered 13 charges—three against the company; four against its president, R. K. Farris of Vancouver; four against its vice-president, C. Spencer Clark of Seattle, Wash.; one against Herbert L. Mackenzie of Calgary a former officer; and one against N. C. Deans of Toronto, a director.

Mr. Mackenzie was not further identified but a company spokesman said he was brought in as Northern Ontario's treasurer during its formative stages, serving without pay. He resigned in 1956.

TRADED SHARES

The informations allege: 1. That Farris and Clark were "knowingly responsible" for trading by Northern Ontario Natural Gas in its own account in securities issued by an industrial company;

2. That the company traded on its own account in securities without first filing a prospectus and obtaining a receipt (Farris and Clark were included in this information);

3. That Farris, Clark and Deans failed to insure that the company kept proper account books and records;

4. That Mackenzie failed to keep proper account books and records;

5. That Farris and Clark caused 14,000 shares of the company to be issued to Continental Investment Corporation Limited in the name of Convesco at $2.50 a share, and that they caused 1,000 shares to be issued to F. E. Shaw.

6 Worker Groups In Wage Dispute

The British Columbia labor industry is in a state of impasse today as no fewer than six groups of workers continue or await negotiations with employers.

The issue in each set of talks is pay.

Of the seven groups, workers are on strike in one of them, or have voted to strike in three others.

On strike since May 16 have been three seamen's unions employed on the Canadian Pacific steamship ferries. Two unions—the Marine Engineers and Merchant Service Guild—agreed last week to go back to work pending arbitration of the dispute. Talks in Ottawa aimed at coaxing the third group, the Seafarers' International Union, to return to the ships on the same terms are scheduled to continue Thursday.

MEETING FAILED

Mr. Starr told the Commons Tuesday a meeting with the groups Monday "failed to achieve a settlement." He gave no indication whether either side had yielded any ground.

The SIU has demanded a 25 per cent pay increase; met with an offer of 8 per cent by CPR. The two officer unions want 19 per cent.

Second B.C. coast steamship workers' strike was called when the two officer unions voted to strike Black Ball Ferries at noon the next day. The plan was thwarted by the decision of the provincial government to operate the line under emergency powers of a section of the Civil Defence Act.

Talks between company and union officials have been carried on in Vancouver all week, with another scheduled for Thursday.

Engineers' president Richard Greaves Tuesday charged the Black Ball dispute would have been resolved "two weeks ago if Mr. Bennett had not interfered."

Today he said the negotiations were "a farce" because Black Ball knew it needn't bargain in good faith while the government was running the ferries.

Terms being discussed in the Black Ball talks are identical with those at stake in the CPR walkout.

A vote to strike was also made in B.C.'s vital lumber industry. Some 70 per cent of the province's 28,000 forestry workers called for a walkout after 128 coast companies decided to go along with a conciliation board recommendation that members of the International Woodworkers of America get no increase this year.

TALKS TO RESUME

Attempts to work out a new contract agreement will resume in Vancouver Thursday or Friday.

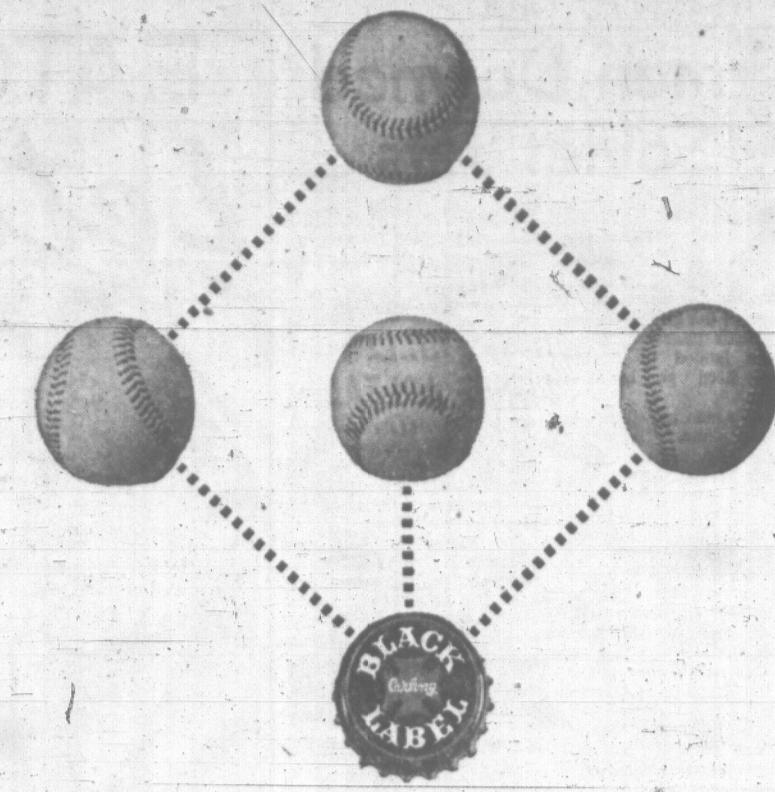

Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing in Vancouver aimed at averting a strike against companies operating oil tankers in B.C. No official figures have been released, but it is understood two seamen's unions involved voted to strike Shell, British American and Standard oil companies.

A conciliation board unanimous decision in March recommended a 20 per cent increase in pay to the two officer unions and the SIU. In May the tanker companies rejected the recommendation and offered 8 per cent instead.

Mr. Greaves today charged the tanker companies were following the lead of CPR, which, he said, could "hold a stick over their heads" since the company buys so much fuel oil.

Meanwhile some 236 Victoria members of the Street Railwaymen's union will vote Friday on a pay increase offer of 12 per cent over two years.

Also on Friday, representatives of B.C.'s 5,000 salmon fishermen will meet in Vancouver to discuss action following a 90-26 vote in favor of a strike following fish price offers by the B.C. Fisheries Association.

Victorians Get Preview
Of 32-Aircraft Fly Past

Victorians got a grandstand view today of the RCAF 32-aircraft fly past that will swoop over the city during Princess Margaret's visit as the flights practised their formation patterns over the city beginning at 2:25 p.m.

The Comox-based aircraft in cluded 11 CF-100 jet interceptors formed up in a huge "M" (for Margaret) at 2,000 feet. Accompanying flights included 12 Sabre fighters and four T-33 jet trainers.

Four Lancaster bombers and a twin-engined Neptune roared over at 1,500 feet.

Bribe Trial Halted
By Judge for Study

VANCOUVER (CP)—The presiding judge in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial came face to face today with some of the most difficult and complicated rulings he has had to make in applying the law in the case, now 38 days old.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, 60-year-old member of the B.C. Supreme Court bench since 1944, adjourned the trial until Monday to consider his rulings on various "defence" motions, including one for dismissal for lack of evidence.

He told prosecutor Victor Dryer, when the latter began argument about some of the counts, that he had previously considered that in the case of Sommers, there might be evidence to put seven bribery counts to the jury, but not sufficient evidence to put another five.

The prosecutor threw in a mild bombshell, asking amendment in the wording of the conspiracy charge, a move which brought strong objections from defence counsel.

Mr. Justice Wilson said he will decide on the matter Monday.

Tuesday all counsel urged him to take all the time he needed. The judge admitted he had quite a "chore" but said it would be unfortunate if the public thought that all this delay had some sinister significance."

Drive to Unionize
200,000 Canadians

MONTREAL (CP)—The powerful teamsters' and longshoremen's unions agreed today to launch almost immediately an all-out drive to organize Canadian dock and transport workers from the east coast to the Lakeshead in readiness for an expected shipping boom through the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Decision to go ahead with the organization campaign was reached at a 95-minute closed session attended by some 24 Canadian and American union chiefs from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes.

200 POLICE
GUARD IKE

OTTAWA (CP)—President Eisenhower is getting the same kind of maximum police security as provided for Queen Elizabeth during her visit here last October. RCMP officials said Tuesday.

About 200 RCMP and city police have been detailed for the current four-day job.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

NAPLES, Italy — Poet Ezra Pound returned to Italy today for the first time since the Second World War and hailed his old home with a Fascist salute. America, he said, "is an insane asylum."

The 72-year-old American expatriate sailed back to the country from which he was taken home as an accused traitor 12 years ago and immediately launched into a tirade against the U.S.

Wartime treason charges against him were recently dropped by the U.S. government because doctors said he would never be sane enough to stand trial.

MONTREAL — Alme Favau, keeper of 35 cats, said Tuesday he will fight a court order to clean up his cat kennels or pay $40 a day starting Friday.

Favau, 64, was given the order and fined $200 last week after neighbors signed a petition that the cats were being kept in an unsanitary way in a shed and enclosure surrounded by a 10-foot wire fence. "I just like cats," he answers when asked why he keeps them.

LONDON — All but one of Lord Redesdale's daughters will share in his $361,000 estate under a will published today. Cut off without a cent was Jésica, who married a left-winger and named her child for Lenin.

Lord Redesdale, who hated Communists and once was a friend of Hitler, died last March at the age of 80.

He was pleased with seven of his eight daughters. One, Unity, also was Hitler's friend. Another, Diana, married British Fascist, Sir Oswald Mosley.

The daughters became famous as the Mitford girls, bearing the name by which Lord Redesdale was known before he inherited his title.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. — A jury split Tuesday on whether or not a minister, an evangelist and a church member were disturbing the peace by groaning, shouting and hand clapping at evening services.

Charges of disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct were brought against the three by persons living near an evangelistic tabernacle.

SEATTLE — For Mrs. A. V. Hubbard of Seattle, a reunion with her mother Tuesday was short and tragic.

Mrs. Virginia M. Mitchell, 76, of San Diego, had not seen Mrs. Hubbard for "several years."

Stepping from a bus to spend the summer here, Mrs. Mitchell embraced and kissed her daughter. Then fatigue, emotion and age took their toll.

Mrs. Mitchell collapsed in her daughter's arms and died moments later.

Union Wins Court Injunction Battle

VANCOUVER (CP) — An injunction restraining the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union, local 170, from picketing a pulp and paper mill in Port Alberni was dissolved by Mr. Justice H. J. Sullivan in Supreme Court.

The injunction had been granted by Mr. Justice F. K. Collins June 27 to Macmillan and Bloedel (Alberni) Ltd.

Miss Mary Southin, counsel for the union, successfully contended the injunction had been granted on insufficient evidence.

The company had alleged the pickets closed down construction work on the pulp and paper mill with the result 300 workers did not report for work.

Queen Invites Heuss to Palace

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Queen has signified her approval of a renewed German-British friendship by inviting West Germany's President Theodor Heuss to stay at Buckingham Palace.

He will be the first German chief of state to visit Britain since Kaiser Wilhelm was there in November, 1907.

Korea Rain Kills 62

SEOUL (AP) — Torrential rains which finally ended today killed 62 persons in South Korea and did damage estimated at more than $8,000,000, police said. Ten other persons were missing. More than 6,600 were homeless.

... JOHN D.

Continued from Page 1 when liberty was under seige and no man knew where salvation lay." Mr. Eisenhower's wisdom, humanitarianism and prestige are once more humanity's hope for freedom and peace."

On international affairs, Mr. Diefenbaker said the Communist world "is waging an intensive economic global offensive of aid and trade."

It was an offensive, not to secure profits in a bookkeeping sense nor to secure the ordinary gains of trade for Communist peoples, "but an offensive whose success will be measured by the degree to which the souls, hearts, freedoms and aspirations of the recipients will be subverted to the purpose of Communism."

MUST EXPAND TRADE

To meet this new and ever-expanding phase of the Communist cold war, joint efforts were needed to expand world trade, to increase the financial base of liquid reserves for such expansion and to help in raising the living standards of peoples in underdeveloped countries.

"I know I speak for all Canadians in saying that for these purposes Canada stands prepared to assume her full share and to make her full contribution."

IKE

Continued from Page 1 problems, Mr. Eisenhower emphasized that the bigger problem is to overcome communism, particularly in its current economic offensive.

"Our system of free enterprise is challenged throughout the world by a state-directed, state-controlled economic system. Indeed, this could well be the area in which the competition will be most bitter and most decisive between the free world and Communist imperialism."

"We must never allow ourselves to become so preoccupied with the differences between our two nations that we lose sight of the transcendent importance of free world co-operation in the winning of the global struggle."

3 Scientists Set for Trip To Moscow

Three local scientists will be among 1,000 astronomers from all parts of the world who will attend a conference in Moscow, USSR, in August.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, astronomer Dr. Graham Odgers and technical officer, Edward Argyle, also from the observatory, will be members of a 10-man Canadian group.

The conference is the 10th general assembly of the International Astronomical Union.

Dr. Petrie will leave Aug. 7 or 8, to return a month later, by way of England where he will inspect a $262,000 telescope now being built for the local observatory.

Dr. Odgers is already en route to Europe. Mr. Argyle leaves July 20. The federal government is sponsoring the trip of Dr. Petrie and Dr. Odgers. The International Astronomical Union is assisting Mr. Argyle with expenses.

Christian Science breaks the grip of matter

Many people have been healed of apparently hopeless troubles and diseases through prayer in Christian Science.

They have found a better way of life. They have gained, or regained, peace and confidence.

How anyone can learn to pray understandingly, effectively, is fully explained in the first chapter of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. Such prayer is the spiritual understanding of God and of man in His "image and likeness," as the Bible teaches.

U.K. SEAMEN RETURNING HOME TO FACE CHARGES

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP) — Law enforcement officials here breathed a sigh of relief today as their legal headache caused by the jailing of five Scottish seamen came to an end.

The men, accused of beating up their bosun's mate and dumping him from the British freighter Catalina Star into the Columbia River, were scheduled to leave tonight for Britain to face charges.

Norman Prickett, British vice-consul at Portland, said arrangements were being made to return the men but he refused to say how they would be taken to England or what specific charges would be filed against them.

Drownings in B.C. Troubling Doctors

A voice of warning against the mounting toll of drowning accidents was raised Tuesday by the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association.

Spokesman and president of the group, Dr. Peter Lehman, said that "the great number of drownings in British Columbia has been a subject of concern to all doctors."

High on the list of those to blame he placed parents who improperly supervised children at bathing sites.

Dr. Lehman also attributed a large number of accidents to "people who are unable to swim venturing into water, boats, and canoes without necessary precautions for safety emergencies."

"It is not the purpose of the medical association to draw up rules or suggest safeguards," he said, "this has already been done by competent authorities."

"These practical rules should be respected and followed. Compliance with them may be the difference between life and death."

During the First World War he served in France and Belgium with A-battery of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and was awarded the Military Cross for gallantry in the field. From 1934 to 1937 he was professor of tactics at the Royal Military College in Kingston.

Joint Defence Cabinet Discussed by Ike, PM

BY VICTOR MACKIE

Times Ottawa Correspondent OTTAWA — A joint Canada-United States cabinet defence committee consisting of cabinet ministers from both countries, is expected to be set up as a result of the initial talks here between Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and President Eisenhower, Tuesday.

The proposal is understood to have been put forward by Canada at the talks attended by six key members of both governments. They conferred for 95 minutes in the study of the Prime Minister's residence.

The question of trade with China and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's suggestion of a joint parliamentary-congressional committee to bring about a closer understanding between the two countries, were also raised during the talks.

But the defence committee proposal was the most important proposal put forward by Canada. This country has been increasingly disturbed over developments in the North American defence field and wants closer liaison with the Americans in this field.

TALKS EXPANDED

President and Prime Minister wasted little time in getting down to work. Originally they were scheduled to meet alone in an informal chat for the first day. But without explanation the number at the original talks was expanded.

The talks are definitely in the preliminary stage. But there were reasons to believe that the U.S. would have no objections to establishing the joint cabinet committee on defence. It might be composed of Canadian ministers of defence, finance and external affairs and their American counterparts.

There is a joint cabinet committee between the two countries now in existence dealing with trade and economic matters. But it meets infrequently. One of Mr. Diefenbaker's objectives is to bring about more frequent meetings between Canadian cabinet ministers and their American counterparts.

Defence questions have been handled on a military and non-political basis through the joint Canada-U.S. Defence Board created during the Second World War. It is composed of the joint chiefs of staff.

The Canadian cabinet has been embarrassed more than once about appearing to be uninformed about American defence policy as it applies to this country.

Firebug Vandals Spatter School With Ink, Glass

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — A glass-strewn, ink-spattered trail of wanton damage was left in a 10-room, $180,000 suburban Chatham school by vandals, who also attempted to start two fires.

Kenneth Johns, secretary-treasurer of the school board, said damage was estimated at $2,500.

It was the second case of major school damage in less than a month. In June, vandals left five classrooms in the west end of the city a shambles.

SIDELIGHTS ON IKE'S VISIT

President Eisenhower paid homage to the Canadian servicemen killed fighting alongside him in two world wars. Old soldier Eisenhower's first official act of the day was to lay a wreath at the foot of the National War Memorial in Ottawa as thousands of citizens ringed Confederation Square, site of the Memorial.

Fisherman John Diefenbaker today told golfer Dwight Eisenhower that he will have the full support of the Canadian people when he tackles the rugged Ottawa Hunt Club Golf Course Thursday.

In introducing the President, Mr. Diefenbaker brought laughter from all sides of the House and the famed Eisenhower grin from the President himself when he remarked that the only armor Eisenhower brought to Canada was "a brassie and a putter."

"Under fair skies and with fairways not too narrow, we hope you can use this armor to add to your list of victories," the Prime Minister said.

Members of Parliament, who turned out in something less than full numbers for recent speeches to them by visiting heads of states, were in almost perfect attendance for President Eisenhower's address today. There were few empty seats on the House of Commons floor when the President stepped to the television microphones at 10:14 a.m. (EDT). The public and diplomatic galleries were jammed long before the President arrived in the chamber.

An RCMP plainclothesman spent some uncomfortable hours today squeezed into a House of Commons ceiling ledge to help protect President Eisenhower.

The ledge forms part of the gold frieze border edging the high ceiling in the green-carpeted chamber. The Commons protective staff said the officer had been stationed there several hours before Mr. Eisenhower arrived.

Soviet Ambassador Dmitri Chuvainin listened from the Commons gallery today as some sharp criticism of the Communist world were made by both President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Governor-General Massey and President Eisenhower exchanged gifts shortly before dinner at Government House Tuesday night.

Mr. Massey presented an Eskimo stone carving to the American president. Mr. Eisenhower's gift to the governor-general was a pair of Canada geese in porcelain.

John D. 'Pleased' With Discussions

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he is very pleased with the trend of discussions so far in President Eisenhower's Ottawa visit.

Speaking to reporters after the president sat in on a cabinet meeting, he said he had been very much impressed with Mr. Eisenhower's appreciation of Canadian problems.

However, he did not expect any hard agreements to develop from the talks with the president and State Secretary Dulles. "Conferences such as these

Hagerty Defends Security Steps

OTTAWA (CP) — United States Secret Service agents checked Government House and Prime Minister Diefenbaker's residence prior to the visit of President Eisenhower, James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said today.

However, he told a reporter he objects to the word "search," used in press reports to describe the security arrangements which he said were carried out in co-operation with the RCMP.

At a press briefing, Mr. Hagerty said U.S. agents did not search the two residences. He elaborated later that he quarreled with the term "search" applied to the arrangements, adding that it connotes "turning everything upside down."

He said all the places visited by the president were checked for security reasons.

EMBASSY CHECKED

In this connection, although Mr. Hagerty did not mention it, it was known a week ago that even the American Embassy residence, where the president now is staying, was checked. The embassy check was so well in advance that the annual July 4 garden party was called off by the embassy because a new check would have had to be conducted afterwards.

Mr. Hagerty said he could not spell out all the security measures taken by agents.

The U.S. agents had sought to co-operate entirely with the RCMP, which was responsible for the security of the president during his stay in Ottawa, he said.

Published reports of searches were mentioned in the Commons Tuesday night by H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) who said that, if the reports were true, it was a "gross indignity" on Governor-General Massey and Mr. Diefenbaker.

The presidential press secretary said none of the 20-man Secret Service detachment from Washington was in the Commons chamber today.

6 Worker Groups In Wage Dispute

The British Columbia labor industry is in a state of impasse today as no fewer than six groups of workers continue or await negotiations with employers.

The issue in each set of talks is—pay.

Of the seven groups, workers are on strike in one of them, have voted to strike in three others.

On strike since May 16 have been three seamen's unions employed on the Canadian Pacific steamship ferries. Two unions of the Marine Engineers and Merchant Service Guild—agreed last week to go back to work pending arbitration of the dispute. Talks in Ottawa aimed at coaxing the third group, the Seafarers' International Union, to return to the ships on the same terms are scheduled to continue Thursday.

TALKS TO RESUME

Attempts to work out a new contract agreement will resume in Vancouver Thursday or Friday.

Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing in Vancouver aimed at averting a strike against companies operating oil tankers in B.C. No official figures have been released, but it is understood two seamen's unions involved voted to strike. Shell, British American and Standard oil companies.

A conciliation board unanimous decision in March recommended a 20 per cent increase in pay to the two officer unions and the SIU. In May the tanker companies rejected the recommendation and offered 8 per cent instead.

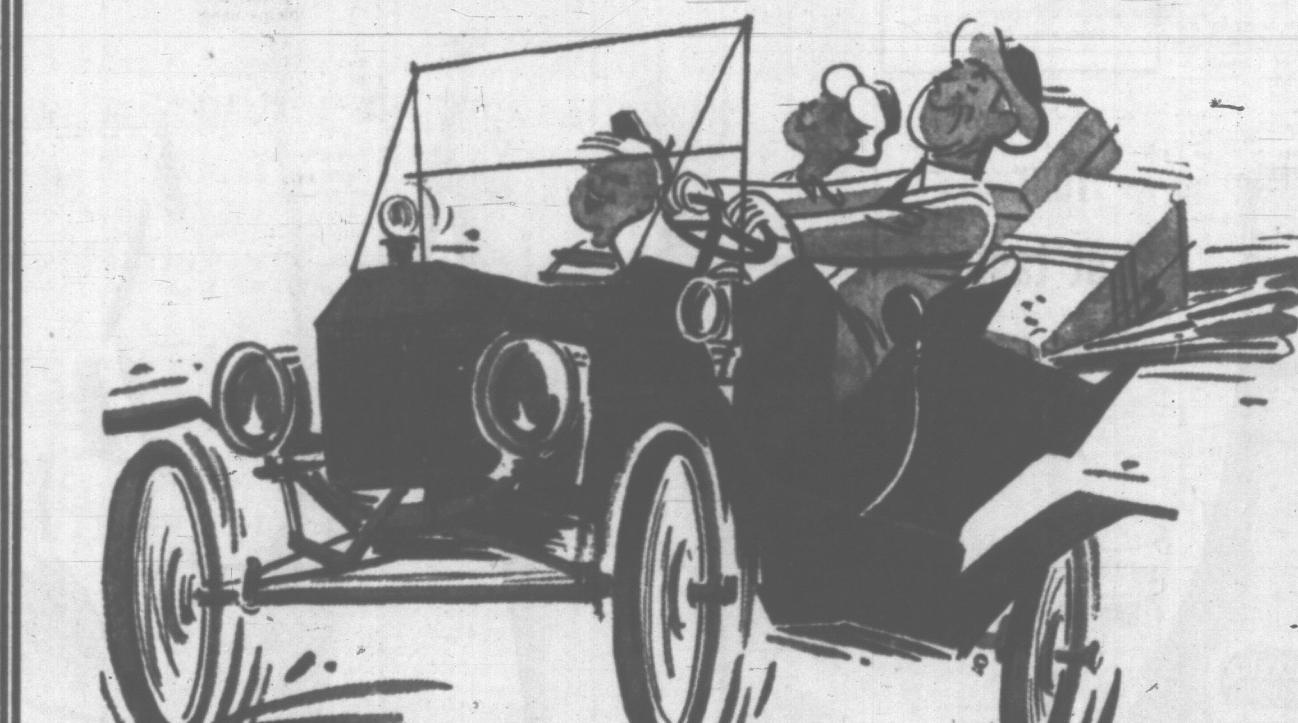

Mr. Greaves today charged the tanker companies were "following the lead of CPR," which he said, could "hold a stick over their heads" since the company buys so much fuel oil.

Meanwhile some 230 Victoria members of the Street Railwaymen's union will vote Friday on a pay increase offer of 12 per cent over two years.

Also on Friday, representatives of B.C.'s 5,000 salmon fishermen will meet in Vancouver to discuss action following a 90-26 vote in favor of a strike following fish price offers by the B.C. Fisheries Association.

Today he said the negotiations

Airmen Downed
By Soviet Jets

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The United States Air Force today postponed a press conference by nine airmen released by the Soviet Union saying they were too tired and exhausted to face the press.

Tuesday, the airmen, detained for 10 days in the Soviet Union, told how their unarmed transport plane landed in flames after being fired upon by MiG jet fighters.

Five of the men bailed out of the burning plane. The other four were fired upon as they were about to land.

The weary crew was flown here after being turned over to U.S. authorities in Iran Monday by Soviet officials. All appeared in good shape.

The plane, which strayed across the border in bad weather, was set afire by the first shots from the MiGs.

"With five parachutes in the air and the aircraft in flames the Soviet planes made another firing pass on the crippled plane when it was on the final approach for a forced landing," the air force account said.

"The burning plane exploded on the ground shortly after the crew members were able to reach safety."

The landing wheels were down, indicating readiness for landing, when the MiGs made their second pass.

PARIS (Reuters)—Douglas Jung, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Vancouver Centre, said Tuesday night that youth groups sent to the Soviet Union by Canada and the United States are primed by their governments to be biased beforehand against Russia.

At the same time, he said, Russian delegations visiting North America never get the chance to meet the people or see the places they want.

Jung, president of the National Young Progressive Conservatives' Association, is attending the 15-nation North Atlantic conference of political youth at NATO headquarters here.

He said in an interview that American and Canadian delegations visiting Russia are "hand-picked, well-briefed by their governments, politically immature and naturally very biased."

MASS KILLER
LOSES APPEAL

GLASGOW (AP)—Peter Manuel, New York-born woodcutter, Tuesday lost his last hope of escaping the gallows. The government re-ected his appeal for a reprieve.

The 32-year-old Scot was sentenced to death May 29 on charges of killing seven persons. The government scheduled his execution for Friday.

"With five parachutes in the air and the aircraft in flames the Soviet planes made another firing pass on the crippled plane when it was on the final approach for a forced landing," the air force account said.

"The burning plane exploded on the ground shortly after the crew members were able to reach safety."

Queen to Miss Debs' Party Because of Sinus Attack

LONDON (AP)—The Queen, suffering from an acute sinus attack, spent a comfortable night but has cancelled all appointments for the rest of this week, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said today.

Her temperature, which had risen to 100 when she suddenly cut short a tour in Scotland Tuesday to return to London, fell during the night, her doctors reported. They did not say, however, if it was normal.

Doctors described the Queen's ailment as acute sinusitis, accompanied by a fever. They said it is not serious.

Cancelling the Queen's activities means she will not attend the garden party Thursday, at which Commonwealth debutantes including 40 from Canada, were to be presented.

TORONTO (CP)—Don Fontana of Toronto will meet Barry MacKay of Dayton, O., Thursday in the opening singles of the Canada-United States Davis Cup round. Canadian champion Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., will go against Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif.

When the Britannia aircraft which will bring Princess Margaret from England, touches down at Vancouver at 9:20 a.m., the royal party will transfer directly to an RCAF C-5. It takes off for Victoria immediately.

Mayor Hume, visiting in Calgary, was advised by wire of the change. No reason was given for the decision by provincial government, Clarence House and Ottawa officials.

Royal reception at Vancouver will take place Wednesday, July 16, following the Princess' flight from Comox.

IKE'S MESSAGE TO CANADA

"Don't Let Bickering Confuse Main Issue"

Economic Unity Urged By John D.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today called for a new free-world economic policy that would "extend a measure of prosperity everywhere."

He made the suggestion in the Commons as he introduced President Eisenhower to a joint sitting of Commons members and senators.

"I believe," said Mr. Diefenbaker, "that the nations of the free world now joined in defence must, on a global basis, launch a new and challenging policy in the economic field designed to extend a measure of prosperity everywhere."

"The need is imperative. The forces of Communism will not wait for time is running out!"

NEED ECONOMIC UNITY

Referring specifically to Canadian-American relations, Mr. Diefenbaker said "we are united in our defences which have no aggressive purpose. We can be no less united in economic objectives."

Each country in forming its economic policies and practices, while looking primarily to the well-being of its own people, "must at the same time take into account the effects of what is done to the other, as well as the interests and aspirations of free nations everywhere."

At another point the Canadian leader said to Mr. Eisenhower:

"Mr. President, our two lands have a glory of their own—the glory of two peoples moving forward together, not complacently but with a humble pride, and joined in fraternal association extending through a century of tragedy and storm."

"We may thank God that our nations know nothing of ancestral animosities or fears and above all desire that the peaceful and co-operative relations between us will become the portion of all mankind."

Mr. Diefenbaker made an eloquent verbal salute to Mr. Eisenhower's wartime leadership of allied forces.

Under his leadership "the legions of freedom marched

DUPLESSIS ASKS PAPER RETRACT

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Jean Methot, counsel for Premier Duplessis, said today legal notice is being sent to Montreal Le Devoir demanding that it retract statements made against the premier personally in a series of articles critical of a provincial gas transaction.

At a press briefing, Mr. Hagerty said U.S. agents did not search the two residences. He elaborated later that he meets with the term "search" applied to the arrangements, adding that it concerns "turning everything upside down."

He said all the places visited by the president were checked for security reasons.

EMBASSY CHECKED

In this connection, although

Mr. Hagerty did not mention it, it was known a week ago that even the American Embassy residence, where the president now is staying, was checked. The embassy check was so well in advance that the annual July 4 garden party was called off by the embassy because a new check would have had to be conducted afterwards.

Mr. Hagerty said he could not spell out all the security measures taken by agents.

The U.S. agents had sought to co-operate entirely with the

RCMP, which was responsible for the security of the president during his stay in Ottawa, he said.

MENTIONED IN COMMONS

Published reports of searches were mentioned in the Commons Tuesday night by H. W.

Heritage (CCF-Kootenay West)

who said that, if the reports were true, it was a "gross indignity" on Governor-General

Massey and Mr. Diefenbaker.

The presidential press secretary said none of the 20-man

Secret Service detachment from Washington was in the Commons chamber today.

Of the high-level talks here generally, he said he has been "very much impressed with the president's appreciation of our problems and the spirit of cooperation that is very evident."

Conferences such as these are not founded on the probability of hard agreements," he said. "I have a knot of reporters on the steps of Parliament's Centre

Block after he had escorted the president to a waiting automobile."

Speaking to reporters after the president sat in on a cabinet meeting, he said he had been very much impressed with Mr.

Eisenhower's appreciation of Canadian problems.

However, he did not expect any hard agreements to develop from the talks with the president and State Secretary Dulles.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

NAPLES, Italy — Poet Ezra Pound returned to Italy today for the first time since the Second World War and hailed his old home with a Fascist salute. America, he said, "is an insane asylum."

The 72-year-old American expatriate sailed back to the country from which he was taken home as an accused traitor 12 years ago and immediately launched into a tirade against the U.S.

Wartime treason charges against him were recently dropped by the U.S. government because doctors said he would never be sane enough to stand trial.

MONTREAL — Alme Favau, keeper of 35 cats, said Tuesday he will fight a court order to clean up his cat kennels or pay $40 a day starting Friday.

Faveau, 64, was given the order and fined $200 last week after neighbors signed a petition that the cats were being kept in an unsanitary way in a shed and enclosure surrounded by a 10-foot wire fence. "I just like cats," he answers when asked why he keeps them.

LONDON — All but one of Lord Redesdale's daughters will share in his $361,000 estate under a will published today. Cut off without a cent was Jessica, who married a left-winger and named her child for Lenin.

Lord Redesdale, who hated Communists and once was a friend of Hitler, died last March at the age of 80.

He was pleased with seven of his eight daughters. One, Unity, also was Hitler's friend. Another, Diana, married British Fascist, Sir Oswald Mosley.

The daughters became famous as the Mitford girls, bearing the name by which Lord Redesdale was known before he inherited his title.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. — A jury split Tuesday on whether or not a minister, an evangelist and a church member were disturbing the peace by groaning, shouting and hand clapping at evening services.

Charges of disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct were brought against the three by persons living near an evangelistic tabernacle.

SEATTLE — For Mrs. V. Hubbard of Seattle, a reunion with her mother Tuesday was short and tragic.

Mrs. Virginia M. Mitchell, 76, of San Diego, had not seen Mrs. Hubbard for "ve years.

Stepping from a bus to spend the summer here, Mrs. Mitchell embraced and kissed her daughter. Then fatigue, emotion and age took their toll.

Mrs. Mitchell collapsed in her daughter's arms and died moments later.

Union Wins Court Injunction Battle

VANCOUVER (CP) — An injunction restraining the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union, local 170, from picketing a pulp and paper mill in Port Alberni was dissolved by Mr. Justice H. J. Sullivan in Supreme Court.

The injunction had been granted by Mr. Justice F. K. Collins June 27 to Macmillan and Bloedel (Alberni) Ltd.

Miss Mary Southin, counsel for the union, successfully contended the injunction had been granted on insufficient evidence.

The company had alleged the pickets closed down construction work on the pulp and paper mill with the result 300 workers did not report for work.

Queen Invites Heuss to Palace

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Queen has signed her approval of renewed German-British friendship by inviting West Germany's President Theodor Heuss to stay at Buckingham Palace.

He will be the first German chief of state to visit Britain since Kaiser Wilhelm was there in November, 1907.

Korea Rain Kills 62

SEOUL (AP) — Torrential rains which finally ended today killed 62 persons in South Korea and did damage estimated at more than $8,000,000, police said. Ten other persons were missing. More than 6,600 were homeless.

Continued from Page 1 when liberty was under siege and no man knew where salvation lay." Mr. Eisenhower's "wisdom, humanitarianism and prestige are once more humanity's hope for freedom and peace."

On international affairs, Mr. Diefenbaker said the Communist world "is waging an intensive economic global offensive of aid and trade."

It was an offensive, not to secure profits in bookkeeping sense nor to secure the ordinary gains of trade for Communist peoples, "but an offensive whose success will be measured by the degree to which the souls, hearts, freedoms and aspirations of the recipients will be subverted to the purpose of Communism."

MUST EXPAND TRADE

To meet this new and ever-enlarging phase of the Communist cold war, joint efforts were needed to expand world trade, to increase the financial base of liquid reserves for such expansion and to help in raising the living standards of peoples in underdeveloped countries.

"I know I speak for all Canadians in saying that for these purposes Canada stands prepared to assume her full share and to make her full contribution."

Continued from Page 1 problems, Mr. Eisenhower emphasized that the bigger problem is to overcome communism, particularly in its current economic offensive.

"Our system of free enterprise is challenged throughout the world by a state-directed, state-controlled economic system. Indeed, this could well be the area in which the competition will be most bitter and most decisive between the free world and Communist imperialism.

"We must never allow ourselves to become so preoccupied with the differences between our two nations that we lose sight of the transcendent importance of free world co-operation in the winning of the global struggle."

3 Scientists Set for Trip To Moscow

Three local scientists will be among 1,000 astronomers from all parts of the world who will attend a conference in Moscow, USSR, in August.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, astronomer Dr. Graham Odgers and technical officer, Edward Argyle, also from the observatory, will be members of a 10-man Canadian group.

The conference is the 10th general assembly of the International Astronomical Union.

Dr. Petrie will leave Aug. 7 or 8, to return a month later, by way of England where he will inspect a $262,000 telescope now being built for the local observatory.

Dr. Odgers is already en route to Europe. Mr. Argyle leaves July 20. The federal government is sponsoring the trip of Dr. Petrie and Dr. Odgers. The International Astronomical Union is assisting Mr. Argyle with expenses.

Christian Science breaks the grip of matter

Many people have been healed of apparently hopeless troubles and diseases through prayer in Christian Science.

They have found a better way of life. They have gained, or regained, peace and confidence.

How anyone can learn to pray understandingly, effectively, is fully explained in the first chapter of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. Such prayer is the spiritual understanding of God and of man in His "image and likeness," as the Bible teaches.

U.K. SEAMEN RETURNING HOME TO FACE CHARGES

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP) — Law enforcement officials here breathed a sigh of relief today as their legal headache caused by the jailing of five Scottish seamen came to an end.

The men, accused of beating up their bosun's mate and dumping him from the British freighter Catalina Star into the Columbia River, were scheduled to leave tonight for Britain to face charges.

Norman Prickett, British vice-consul at Portland, said arrangements were being made to return the men but he refused to say how they would be taken to England or what specific charges would be filed against them.

Drownings in B.C. Troubling Doctors

A voice of warning against the mounting toll of drowning accidents was raised Tuesday by the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association.

Spokesman and president of the group, Dr. Peter Lehmann, said that "the great number of drownings in British Columbia has been a subject of concern to all doctors."

High on the list of those to blame, he placed parents who improperly supervised children at bathing sites.

Dr. Lehmann also attributed a large number of accidents to "people who are unable to swim venturing into water, boats, and canoes without necessary precautions for safety emergencies."

"It is not the purpose of the medical association to draw up rules or suggest safeguards," he said, "this has already been done by competent authorities. These practical rules should be respected and followed. Compliance with them may be the difference between life and death."

Joint Defence Cabinet Discussed by Ike, PM

BY VICTOR MACKIE

Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — A joint Canada-United States cabinet defence committee consisting of cabinet ministers from both countries, is expected to be set up as a result of the initial talks here between Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and President Eisenhower, Tuesday.

The proposal is understood to have been put forward by Canada at the talks attended by six key members of both governments. They conferred for 95 minutes in the study of the Prime Minister's residence.

The question of trade with China and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's suggestion of a joint parliamentary congressional committee to bring about a closer understanding between the two countries, were also raised during the talks.

But the defence committee proposal was the most important proposal put forward by Canada. This country has been increasingly disturbed over developments in the North American defence field and wants closer liaison with the Americans in this field.

TALKS EXPANDED

President and Prime Minister wasted little time in getting down to work. Originally they were scheduled to meet alone in an informal chat for the first day. But without explanation the number at the original talks was expanded.

The talks are definitely in the preliminary stage. But there were reasons to believe that the U.S. would have no objections to establishing the joint cabinet committee on defence. It might be composed of Canadian ministers of defence, finance and external affairs and their American counterparts.

There is a joint cabinet committee between the two countries now in existence dealing with trade and economic matters. But it meets infrequently. One of Mr. Diefenbaker's objectives is to bring about more frequent meetings between Canadian cabinet ministers and their American counterparts.

Defence questions have been handled on a military and non-political basis through the joint Canada-U.S. Defence Board created during the Second World War. It is composed of the joint chiefs of staff.

The Canadian cabinet has been embarrassed more than once about appearing to be uninformed about American defence policy as it applies to this country.

Firebug Vandals Spatter School With Ink, Glass

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — A glass-strewn, ink-spattered trail of wanton damage was left in a 10-room, $180,000 suburban Chatham school by vandals, who also attempted to start two fires.

Kenneth Johns, secretary-treasurer of the school board, said damage was estimated at $2,500.

It was the second case of major school damage in less than a month. In June, vandals left five classrooms in the west end of the city a shambles.

The other section of the talks dealt with defence, in particular the relation between Canadian and the U.S. Forces for North American defence.

She was presented with a scroll and a gift, from the Rotary Club.

OTTAWA (CP) — Text of speech need not impair the free President Eisenhower's address world. Though we may speak today to the Canadian Parliament in different tongues and accents, that fact does not weaken our friends.

relationship between our two countries.

I recall so well when your gracious Queen came to Washington from Ottawa we spoke together of the beauty of this city and the greatness of Canada.

It is good to return—to see old friends and to make new ones.

I came here first in 1946 to congratulate the Canadian people on the brilliant role played by the Canadian forces you placed under my command in the Second World War which had then recently ended in victory.

My next visit was made as commander of NATO forces in Europe. In 1953 I returned as the distant early warning (DEW) line has been built and placed in operation. In the process of construction I am sure much operation would add measurably to our security against a sudden attack. Possibly it might also contribute to a more rapid development of the northern reaches of Canada and our new state, Alaska.

Last month an agreement was concluded between our two governments to establish a combined air defence headquarters for this continent. We have also — both of us — striven, as we will continue to strive, for the Soviet Union's agreement to a system of inspection to protect against surprise attack through the Arctic. Recent Soviet communications have strengthened our hope that they will come to see that by such a system any basis for their professed fears of an attack across the pole will be removed. For Canada and the United States such a system in

And yet, despite these dissimilarities in form, our two governments are developing, and are increasingly using effective ways to consult and act together. This we do to meet the problems that confront us in our relations with each other, and in the relations of both with other nations of the world.

We share the basic belief that only under free institutions, with government the servant and not the master, can the individual secure his life, his liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. We are both determined to frame and follow policies which safeguard the lives and homes of our people, their peace of

FIRST OF VISITING SHIPS to arrive at Esquimalt for Centennial Navy Week was Royal Navy's HMS Newcastle which passed Dunton Head at 9 a.m. today as Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner watched from

MONTE ROBERTS

The owners of the Water Tourist are to be congratulated on their enterprise.

The Water Tourist is the sightseeing boat which takes visitors on delightful little cruises around the Inner Harbor and environs.

Well, the owners of the Water Tourist have taken note of the fact the navy is conducting some sort of a show here next week.

There will be a great many ships anchored in Royal Roads, the owners have found out, and this is where the enterprise comes in.

They are changing the route of the Water Tourist so its passengers can see the ships at anchor.

But what I like best is the way the owners of the Water Tourist advertise this fact.

A nice, colorful sign on the causeway says:

CANADIAN NAVAL REVUE

I can hardly wait to see the chorus buoys.

And then there was the sailor who was affected by dizzy spells.

He had a whirl in every port.

A constituent has sent along, without comment, the following clipping from an unidentified London newspaper.

(Pardon me, I mean CUTTING, not clipping.)

I reprint it here, also without comment.

PRINCESS TO SEE BACKWOODS.

Victoria, British Columbia, Thursday.

Princess Margaret's two-week tour of British Columbia next month will take her north for a look at the "new frontier" and into remote backwoods regions where gold was found a century ago.

From my friend (I guess) B.H. comes this contribution to centennial knowledge:

"In 1895 a survey party was out in the region which is now known as Shelburne Street, when a bright little French Canadian who was attached to the party as a lineman and who always saw the obvious said "See da hill!" so they promptly named it Cedar Hill."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Low cloud late tonight and Thursday morning will disperse by noon and leave Thursday afternoon sunny and warm, the weatherman said today.

Winds will be southwesterly at up to 15 miles per hour in the afternoon, and temperatures tonight and Thursday will range between 52 and 70 degrees.

Results of the Tuesday session of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club are: North-South—Elizabeth Warren and Lil Tatton, Velma Acres and George Morgan, Doug Hawken and Bill Simpson-Baikie, and Larry MacMillan and Harry Parry; East-West—Edith Bold and George Marsden, Frank Artlett and Gordon Rodger, Mr. and Mrs. W. McConnell, and Sam Dupravau and Otto Leesment.

Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada is still searching for volunteer taggers who will be posted on city streets Saturday in a drive to raise $2,000. Sea cadets, Navy League cadets and Wrennettes will serve as taggers, but anyone else willing to help is asked to phone 4-3706.

Museum for Relic Locomotive Wins Tentative Backing

A proposed museum park for relic steam locomotives won tentative support from Saanich parks and services committee Tuesday.

"This thing ought to be of tremendous interest," chairman Charles Nelles said later.

Vancouver Island Railway Historical Association asked the committee for land and was told to look for a suitable site and make further plans before the next meeting with parkmen.

The committee suggested a site near the B.C. Electric substation off Quadra near Lochside, which is at the end of existing trackage.

The committee was told by association delegates three locomotives including two from logging operations already are available as soon as a site can be found. About an acre is needed.

Coun. Nelles said Saanich could not accept any large expense apart from a generous lease offer on land and agreed with the delegation such a museum would best be self-supported.

Opening and closing dates of the hunting seasons in B.C. will be approximately the same in 1958 as they were last year, Frank Butler, director of fish and game branch, said today.

Detailed regulations, however, will not be released until late July.

Mr. Butler pointed out this will be in time for all hunters to be in possession of regulations well in advance of opening dates.

Charles Bruce MacMillan, R.C.M., was fined $50 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to consuming liquor in a public place.

Another seaman, John F. Schultz, pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor and was fined $15.

Pedestrian victim of a hit-and-run accident at Hillside and Cedar Hill Saturday night, Harry V. Mills, 78, of 1403 Ryan, was in fair condition at Jubilee Hospital today with broken legs and internal injuries.

Police are checking leads which may turn up vehicle and driver seen leaving the accident.

The vehicle is described as a light green half-ton pickup truck, about 1950 model.

LOUISE DAVIS*On Etiquette*Male dress at parties:

Are morning coats and striped trousers still worn by middle-aged men? My husband wanted to wear such an outfit to a recent Sunday supper party, although I dissuaded him, feeling that he might appear conspicuous. Would he have been right in doing so?

Louise Davis answers:

Your husband would not only be out of place, but the suit would have been out of place. The morning coat and striped trousers, commonly known as the cut-away, is worn at ultra formal daytime functions exclusively. It is never worn at a party scheduled for any time after six o'clock.

I am certain that you didn't see any at the supper party and my guess is that there were no tuxedos or tails worn either, although they would have been appropriate for a formal evening party. However, they are in the minority these days, as most men seem to prefer to keep their formal attire in moth balls and wear their conservative business suits unless a host and hostess indicate or stipulate that their evening party calls for black tie (tuxedo) or white tie (tails).

Dressing for barbecue: I am invited to a large outdoor barbecue at a beautiful estate. What should I wear—a sport dress or summer evening gown?

Louise Davis answers: Since an outdoor barbecue is first a cousin to a picnic, wear a simple sport dress. Formal evening attire would be out of place at such a party.

These Exercises Will Help Free You From Insomnia

At the end of a day we are apt to have tension and slight muscle spasms in our back. We are especially likely to feel fatigue through the shoulder and neck. The following exercises are magic in that they relax us for sleep or before dressing for a gay evening.

This tension is one reason for insomnia. I hope you will take this routine seriously because it can give you a much better grade of sleep. Lie on your back on the bed. Place a couple of pillows under your knees but have NO pillow under your head. This in itself is restful.

Now turn your head as far to the left as you can. Try to bring your chin over your shoulder. Turn head forward. This time turn your head to the right. Turn forward. Continue, slowly, feeling the pull and alternating left and right.

Now lift your head and touch your chin to your chest. Lower head to the bed and roll the head backward. Continue lifting the head and then lowering from the hip joint, and let your heel lead. Hold while you feel the stretch. Do the same thing with your left arm and leg. Continue slowly, alternating right and left.

You will find these four exercises most relaxing. Do each one in the sequence given and for long enough to feel that you have had a massage. Many busy people use these tricks.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Shuteye," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 34. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.
